EXORBITANT DAMAGES.

New York Insurance Company Called on to Pay Million and a Quarter for Damaging Castro's Reputation.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—A petition has been received by a local judge, says a Buenos Ayres, Argentina, dispatch to the Herald, requesting on the part of a Montevideo court the seizure of the funds and properties of the New York Life Insurance Company to pay $1,250,000 damages awarded to Cassimro Castro. The local judge has issued a bankrupt decree against the company, and has appointed a receiver for its properties. The seizure of the properties has been postponed, however, under an arrangement with counsel for the receiver.

The Uruguayan authorities are considering United States Minister Finch's communication requesting a revision of the court's decision in the suit which was brought by Castro because the company's lawyer prosecuted him on the charge of insuring hopelessly ill persons to collect the claims after death, and the accusation was not proved.

In its defense the insurance company alleged that is lawyer was not authorized to proceed against Castro, and that the attorney acted upon his own responsibility.

ROME, July 17, 1:05 a.m.—The Pope is greatly disturbed by the difficulty of breathing, and is restless.

EARLY BULLETIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, July 16, 7:25 p.m.—The following bulletin has just been issued:

"His Holiness's condition continues the same as usual. During the day he had some hours' rest. Pulse, 88; respiration, 36; temperature, 16.6 centigrade.

[Signed] "LAPPONI. "MAZZONI."

THE LATEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, July 17, 9:15 a.m.—Dr. Mazoni entered the Pontiff's bedroom at 8:30 o'clock this morning, after Dr. Lapponi had reported to him how His Holiness had passed the night. He found the patient, as Pope Leo himself said, "unrefreshed and tired."

His Holiness complained that while the doctors had promised that his illness would not last long, it is now two weeks since he went to bed.

The Pontiff prefers to sit up in bed, as in that position he feels less oppression on his lungs, and can breathe more easily. Dr. Mazzoni spent much time examining him. As His Holiness is reduced almost to a skeleton, if a new operation is decided upon, it will not be because of any hope of saving the patient's life, but simply for the purpose of rendering the death agony less acute.

MEDICAL BULLETINS.

DOCTORS POSTPONE OPERATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16, 10 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The following medical bulletin has just been issued:

"The night was little tranquil and sleepless. The general condition of His Holiness presents no other modification except greater frequency of breathing, due to an augmentation of the pleuric fluid. Pulse 88. Temperature, 36.3 centigrade. Respiration, 36.

[Signed] "LAPPONI, "MAZZONI."

11:25 p.m.—Mgr. Angelli, one of the Pope's private secretaries, has just left the sick room, much preoccupied. "He said: 'I have left the Holy Father in a sleep which is so deep that it resembles the lethargy of death.'"

DOCTORS IN SICK ROOM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16—6:10 p.m.—The doctors have entered the sick room. Their decision regarding the proposed operation is anxiously awaited.

MAZONI SEEKS ROSSONI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16.—7:10 p.m.—Dr. Mazoni has just left the sick room, saying he will return later, perhaps accompanied by Dr. Rossoni, and will then decide upon an opertaion.

LAPPONI SUGGESTS DELAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16.—9:10 p.m.—The doctors are now in the sick room. Dr. Lapponi, on emerging momentarily from the Pope's apartment, said he believed that it was advisavable to wait until tomorrow, when the pleuratic fluid will have fuly gathered, before performing the operation.

POSTPONING OPERATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16—10 p.m.—The doctors, after a careful examination of the patient, have decided to postpone another operation, as the pleuratic fluid is apparentently stationary. His general condition is unchanged.

PONTIFF'S CONDITION GRAVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Mgr. Falconio, the apostolic delegate, today received the following cablegram from Cardinal Rampolli: "The condition of the Holy Father continues grave. His wonderful resistance is a cause of admiration."

YESTERDAY'S NEW CRISIS.

FINDS POPE GIVING ORDERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, July 17, 2:55 a.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Pope's condition this morning is even less satisfactory than yesterday morning, and he suffered from much uneasiness and difficulty in breathing, until relieved to some extent by an injection of caffeine. The new crisis in the Pope's condition presented itself yesterday, when the doctors were confronted on the one hand with the apparently imperative necessity of an operation, and on the other with the danger that such an operation might prove fatal.

This dilemma was canvassed by Dr. Lapponi and Dr. Mazzoni throughout the day. At their earlier conference there was some prospect that the operation might not occur, and the doctors left the sickroom without arriving at a definite determination as to when it would take place. They expressed the belief, however, that a delay until today would serve a useful purpose in permitting a larger extraction of serum in case the operation was undertaken.

Meantime the Pope continued in a state of great depression. Thanks to a fairly good afternoon's sleep, the physicians were able to issue a bulletin at 7:25 p. m., showing there had been no vital change in the normal progress of the disease, though the same serious rapidity of respiration as was noticed in the morning had to be again recorded. So painful had the latter become that one of those present in the sick room described the Pontiff as literally panting for his life's breath.

Later the Pope was sufficiently at ease to receive Cardinal Rampolla, and his Holiness conferred upon him the enlarged authority, made necessary by the present illness, for the executive administration of the papal affairs. It is understood that one result of this action probably will be the speedy appointment of a successor to Mgr. Volponi, as secretary of the Consistoral Congregation.

A telegram from the Associated Press having been forwarded to Cardinal Rampolla, informing him that Sunday, July 12, prayers were offered in Protestant churches in the United States for the recovery of Pope Leo, the cardinal has replied through the following letter from the Secretaryship of State to His Holiness:

"Dear Sir: The communication forwarded by you has been most gratifying to the Cardinal Secretary of State, my master. His Eminence hopes that the Holy Father's health will allow him, when the opportune moment comes, to inform His Holiness of the contents of the telegram.

"The very great desire always felt by His Holiness for the reunion of the dissident churches will certainly render this demonstration of the interest of the American Protestant churches most acceptable.

"With true sentiments of esteem, I remain, your devoted servant.

[Signed] "GIACOMA DELLACHIESA, "Substitute Secretary of State.

"Rome, July 14, 1903."

The tenacity of Pope Leo is most admirable, not only in his organism, but even in his feeling. The best example thereof is perhaps the continual proofs of confidence that His Holiness bestows on Cardinal Rampolla, who, after faithfully serving the Pope sixteen years, is now being made the object of the most bitter attacks. No one was admitted to the sickroom today except the Cardinal Secretary of State, who was only allowed, on repeated request of Pope Leo, who said to him that he desired to confirm and extend the power His Eminence already exercises because of his position, and authorized him to take measures which in ordinary times would necessitate the direct intervention of the Pontiff, "in recognition of his personal devotion to the Pontiff and the services he had rendered to the church."

LAPPONI'S SON EXPELLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, July 16.—The Dix Nouvielle Siecle's correspondent at Rome says Dr. Lapponi's son, who spread reports favorable to Cardinal Rampolla, has been expelled from the Vatican by orders of Cardinal Orgilia.

PRAYS TO THE MADONNA.

POPE THINKS END NEAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The fateful day of the Carmelite Madonna, in which Pope Leo had a premonition he would die, has arrived. Early this morning His Holiness awoke, and immediately began repeating prayers to the Madonna, speaking with such fervor that his valet, Centra, hurried from an adjoining room. Pope Leo, hearing Centra's voice, said: "Ah, Pio, your task is nearly done. Today is the fete of the Carmelite Madonna."

Later, with the same idea in mind, the Pope asked for one of his private secretaries, Mgr. Marson Lini, to have him say mass in the chapel next to his bedroom, with the door between the two apartments open. In the middle of the mass, Pope Leo received communion like one who really saw visions of coming bliss.

Special prayers on behalf of His Holiness were offered in all the churches after the celebration of mass, and the Pontiff's own prediction that his death, if it were to result from his present illness, would occur today, is recalled with emotion.

TAKES HOLY COMMUNION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16.—The Pope's condition today again assumed a grave aspect. Besides the continuance of the Pontiff's extreme weakness, the doctors indicated the ominous prospect of another operation for the removal of the pleuratic liquid. The Pope continued restless, but had several periods of comparative ease. During one of these he gave another evidence of his remarkable vitality by taking holy communion during the celebration of mass in honor of the Madonna of the Carmelites. It was a pathetically solemn event, as, by the Pope's request, those participating besides Dr. Lapponi and Pio Centra, included a number of his trusted domestics, five sweepers and two porters.

PASSED A BAD NIGHT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ROME, July 16.—When Dr. Mazzoni visited the Pontiff this morning, the latter said the past night had been one of the worst he had experienced. He spoke of the oppression on his chest, the difficulty in breathing and the uncontrolable restlessness, giving him, in fact, no peace in any position. Dr. Lapponi said the Pope had called for him very often during the night, taking frequent restoratives, especially meat broth, orangeade and tamarind water. He felt better, however, after the celebration of mass, as though the communion had calmned him. In fact, the doctors proceeded with a thorough examination of his thorax, without fatiguing him too much. They found the liquid in the pleura augmented, but not gathered in such quantity as to endanger the patient's life by producing pressure on the heart, or through asphyxia, which might occur if there was any pressure on the lower part of the bronchial tube. On account of the extreme weakness of the Pontiff, no operation for extracting the liquid will be performed until it is absolutely indispensable. The doctors hesitate to again perform the drainage of the pleura, fearing that the effect of the operation itself, involving the possibility of pressure on the lungs, and consequently of the disturbance of the whole apparatus of circulation, might be fatal. The secretion of urine has slightly augmented in the last twenty-four hours, having reached forty cubic centimeters. It is, however, still greatly insufficient.

The doctors have received many congratulations from many authorities, with most of whom they are not acquainted, on their treatment of the Pontiff. Among these is a letter to Dr. Lapponi from Prof. Henri Huchard, a member of the Academy of Medicine at Paris.

OIL AND TOBACCO.

Two Commodities in Which the Berlin Chamber of Commerce is Interested to Extent of Knocking Americans.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two organized efforts to combat American enterprise in Germany are imminent. One is the long-mooted combination of tobacco manufacturers, who have formed an anti-American Tobacco Trust League, to educate smokers in the evils of American goods; to coerce retail dealers into refusing to handle the products of the American combine and to induce the government to make the popular American coupon system unlawful. The league announces a war fund of 10,000 marks ($2380) to meet Duke's $30,000,000. Berlin's Chamber of Commerce fathers the other movement. It contemplates a systematic fight against the Standard Oil Company, whose monopoly of the German market is nearly complete. The chamber asserts that the Standard Oil Company's hold on the country can be broken if the government will make discriminatory railway rates in favor of Roumanian and Austrian oil.

BISHOP ON PHILIPPINES.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Bishop Rooker, who has been assigned to the diocese of Jarow, Philippine Islands, had an interview with Secretary Root today on affairs in the islands. He gave the Secretary his views on some of the questions on which both the Philippine government and the Catholic church are interested.

WALL STREET BEARS DOWN ON THE BEARS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The bears made a desperate effort, just before the close of the market today on the Stock Exchange, to renew the advantage they have held since last Friday. Amalgamated Copper, despite the fact that the company declared its regular dividend of ½ of 1 per cent. today, was driven down four points, and several other of the active stocks were viciously attacked.

Conservative men, however, expressed the opinion that this was the final assault, and was made for the purpose of enabling shorts to cover. There was a distinct change of sentiment for the better in the financial district. This was to some extent caused by interviews given out by prominent men, in which they declared the selling movement was not warranted by actual conditions. London was perhaps more impressed by these statements, which were cabled over Wednesday night, than was the American public.

At the opening of the local market, heavy orders were placed for London account. During the day, London brokers bought over 50,000 shares of stock, principally New York Central, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and Canadian Pacific. A violent break in the sterling-exchange market, which carried the rate nearly 1 cent below the exporting point, contributed a great deal toward restoration of confidence. Several experts expressed the opinion this meant the end of the gold-export movement.

The attitude of big interests toward the market was perhaps the most encouraging feature of the day. Talbot J. Taylor & Co., who represent James R. Keene, sent out a private letter to their customers, advising them to buy stock. The story is told in Wall street that the services of James R. Keene have again been retained by J. P. Morgan & Co. to renew a bull campaign in the United States Steel shares. The story was also current in Wall street that Keene and E. H. Harriman had come to an agreement in Southern Pacific, and George Gould and Harriman were friendly again. For the first time in several weeks commission house did a good business. Orders came in from all parts of the country to buy stock, and from time to time the market made steady advan...

WASHINGTON.

PRIED THE DOOR OPEN.

Hay Has His Way With Russia.

Ports of Mukden and Ta-Tung-Kao in Manchuria Free to American Commerce.

Czar's Government Scores Diplomatic Success in Recognition of Its Occupancy.

London Papers Congratulate the Secretary, but are Suspicious of the Muscovites.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Complete success of the State Department in dealing with Russia to get concessions for American business men in Manchuria was announced by the Department today, when Secretary Hay let it be known that two ports in Manchuria, at Ta-Tung-Kao and Mukden, will be open ports.

Mukden is in the heart of the Manchurian desert, but it is important, nevertheless, because the caravans all stop there, and it is also an important place in the commerce of the vast territory of Northern China. Ta-Tung-Kao is another important commercial center, which is expected to become a great distributing point. This announcement of a victory in the commercial diplomacy of the United States means a great deal more than appears upon the surface. Officials of the Department of State are quite willing to say that getting two open ports in Manchuria is in itself a victory, but there is more to follow. It is the beginning of the end of the three-year diplomatic war between the United States and Russia. In that war is involved the countervailing duty on Russian sugar and petroleum; the excessive duty imposed in retaliation by Russia upon American manufactures, especially iron and steel, and discrimination against American goods in Siberia on account of the failure of the United States to sign the treaty of reciprocity between Russia and the United States after it had been drawn up, informally agreed to by this government and approved by the government at St. Petersburg.

It is predicted here today that before long there will be a perfect understanding between Washington and St. Petersburg on all disputes that have arisen of late, and that the understanding will be embodied in a new commercial treaty between the two governments. In that treaty the United States will have to make not very slight concessions to Russian business interests, and in return, it will get larger fields of opportunity in all Russia, including Manchuria and Siberia where the field for American machinery to be used in railroading, mining and oil production, is almost limitless.

The diplomatic victory, however, is with Russia; the American victory being one purely of business. By throwing open the two ports in Manchuria to the United States, Russia gets indirectly an American assent to her ownership of Manchuria. More so, because China has assented to the arrangement, and will, in all probability, as seen through Washington eyes, stop the protest of Japan against Russian occupancy of Manchuria. It is admitted at the Department of State that it was practically agreed between Secretary Hay and Count Cassini at their conference, so long ago as June 26, that Manchuria would be opened to the United States, and at that conference also there was an agreement in relation to the murder of Jews by Russian mobs.

It is now the understanding that the protest of American Jews to Russia will be forwarded by the President to Russia, and that the incident will be dropped immediately thereafter, and will not become more than an international incident which has passed away. Incidentally, it will be made known to the people of the United States that Russia is now engaged in vigorous prosecution of the leaders of anti-Jewish mobs.

ASSURANCES AT HAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The Manchurian question has been settled satisfactorily to this government. Assurances have been received from the Chinese government that it will, in the near future, open as treaty ports several ports now closed to the world trade. The Russian government has conveyed formal assurance to the United States government that it will not in any way oppose such opening.

It is now known that the negotiations which have terminated so successfully today, so far as broad lines are concerned, for only details remain to be adjusted, were practically brought to their present phase by Secretary Hay and Count Cassini, at a meeting at the Russian Embassy June 26, the day before the Secretary left for Newport, for the Ambassador then had in hand the necessary authorization from his own government to make the pledges which are now in process of redemption. The pledges were reduced to writing by Mr. Hansen, the Russian charge, during his call at the State Department today. It now remains for Mr. Conger to define in the trade treaty which is negotiating with China the terms and conditions under which the new ports are to be opened.

It may be stated that had the United States government cared to pursue a selfish policy in this matter it might easily have secured promises of special privileges from Russia, but Secretary Hay has held to the broader doctrine of the "open door" in Manchuria for the whole world.

It also develops that the meeting of the Russian officials at Port Arthur, just concluded, was but one of the steps, though an important one, which the St. Petersburg government had planned in execution of its purpose to place matters of international administration in Manchuria in such condition that the ports desired by the United States and Japan could be opened to trade without causing disturbance or involving undue sacrifice of proper Russian interests. It already had been represented that much of the friction that had grown out of the Manchurian question was caused by a sort of triple, yet independent administration of affairs in Manchuria, by representatives of the different branches of the Russian government. The result was that one official would not feel bound by the pledges made by another, so that foreign nations complained of bad faith.

It is understood that now, following the Port Arthur conference, a compact and responsible direction of affairs has been arranged for and orders issued from St. Petersburg are certain to meet with speedy and exact compliance. Although no set time is mentioned in the promise to open the ports, it is believed that this will follow soon after the Russian evacuation in September.

Respecting the two ports mentioned as likely to be opened, namely, Mukden and Ta-Tung-Kao, it may be said that, both politically and from a trade point of view, the latter port is apt to prove the most important, though the place is so little known now that the name is not to be found on many of the best charts. It lies on the right bank of the Yalu River, not far from its mouth, and is close to the Korean town of Weju, an important trade center, which will undoubtedly prove tributary to the new port. At present Ta-Tung-Kao does not amount to much, but rapid development is looked for as soon as it becomes a treaty port.

Mukden is at the head of navigation on the Liao River, and is the point from which caravans start through Manchuria and Siberia. It is now the largest port in Manchuria, next to Niuchwang.

JAPS AND THE BRITISH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, July 16.—Both Foreign Office and Japanese Legation say they are without advices as to the result of the conference of Russian officials at Port Arthur. The Japanese officials are disappointed at the attitude of Great Britain, which, they believe, is in the direction of endeavoring to restrain Japan's active policy in China.

COTTON GOODS TRADE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Simultaneously with the promise to open up Manchuria to the world's trade comes a report to the Bureau of Commerce and Labor from United States Consul Miller at Niuchwang, which thus far is the only open port in Manchuria, respecting the cotton goods trade of that province. He says that the great market for cotton goods in Manchuria is attracting the earnest attention of Russian manufacturers at Moscow. They are seeking to capture a good share of the $12,180,000 worth of cotton goods trade that annually comes through this port, and are offering most tempting inducements to merchants to go to Moscow to purchase their supplies.

The Consul refers to a dispatch to the Minister at Peking, in which the latter mentioned that a Russian agent had taken a number of merchants to Moscow to make a contract for the importation of the drills imitating American products. The Consul reports the return of these merchants to Niuchwang because the drills were not quite up to the American standard in quality.

BRITISH CONGRATULATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, July 17.—The few morning papers which comment on the announcement that the State Department at Washington has received assurances from the Chinese government that it would shortly open several ports to the world's trade, congratulate Secretary Hay he has gained admission of the principle of "the open door" in Chinese waters, and, while expressing the suspicion that Russian diplomacy has left some troublesome conditions in reserve, they are inclined to believe that Secretary Hay is too astute to be put off with a mere paper concession.

RUSSIA WON'T RECEIVE IT.

Jewish Petition will Get No Consideration at Her Hands.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—It was learned tonight that the State Department has received a reply from Russia stating that it neither would receive nor consider the matter of the Jewish petition on the subject of the Kishineff incident. The information was received by cablegram from Mr. Riddle, the American chargé d'affaires at St. Petersburg, who was given the difficult task of inquiring of the Russian government as to its attitude with respect to the petition of the Jews. It is believed that this will end the matter, and that no further steps will be taken by this government to bring the views of the petitioners to the attention of Russia, although as yet no consideration has been given by the President as to the course to be pursued in the light of Russia's response to our inquiry.

The reply that Russia would make to all suggestions on the subject of the Kishineff massacre was forecasted very clearly by the Associated Press some weeks ago, in an authorized statement, when the public was definitely informed that Russia regarded the affair as an internal matter, as to which she, in the exercise of her own sovereignty, must refuse to receive suggestions from any other government or outside source.

VISIT TO THE AZORES.

MADE AS IF IN WAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Some interesting information is looked for from Admiral Barker in a few days, in the report of the cruise of the North Atlantic squadron to the Azores. Apparently there was nothing spectacular or unusual about this visit to the islands on the other side of the Atlantic, but, as a matter of fact, it was a voyage of decidedly important character. It was made under conditions similar to those that would exist in war times, and was made for the purpose of furnishing the department with information regarding the requirements of a 2000-mile cruise to a foreign shore or port.

Very little has been said about this feature of the cruise of the North Atlantic squadron, and even now, the higher officials of the department, those who are responsible for the general policies of the service, discourage all public discussion of the matter. When the talk of sending the North Atlantic squadron to Europe was first begun, it was proposed to send it to Lisbon. Then it was suggested that the trip be made under war conditions, or, in other words, that the fleet carry its base with it, and depend on auxiliaries for supplies. Plans were accordingly developed to carry out this idea, but in some way or other the news of the experiment leaked out, and for fear of offending some of the European powers, the programme was changed.

It was thought unwise to let it be known that our strongest fleet was being sent to Europe, apparently on a complimentary and friendly mission, but in reality under conditions that would prevail in event of war between the United States and a European power. Accordingly, Lisbon was dropped out of the itinerary, and the Azores was made the objective point. Three colliers, Caesar, Lebanon and Alexander, were attached to the fleet to carry coal for the trip over and back, so that the vessels would be entirely independent of private supplies.

SECRETARY WILSON'S VIEWS.

FOOT DISEASE AND CROPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Secretary Wilson, who has returned from a trip that included Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota, said today that while the farming conditions are generally good, and some of the crops have a large yield, the corn crop will be short.

Secretary Wilson stated today that effort to have the consuls where foot and mouth diseases exist attend to disinfection of wools had not been very successful, and if they continue to meet with failure, the government will be compelled, sooner or later, to order the disinfection at the ports of entry in this country, or prohibit the importation altogether. Such a step, he added, would be taken with great hesitation. This reference applies particularly to Argentina and a number of countries in Europe.

Guatemala Extradition Treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Secretary Hay and Minister Arriga today exchanged ratifications of the Guatemalan extradition treaty which was signed some time ago. The treaty is on modern lines.

OBITUARY.

Maj. William B. Hooper.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After an illness which lasted eight months, with complications resulting from a belated operation, death came tonight to Maj. William B. Hooper, manager and lessee for the last twenty years of Occidental Hotel, senior warden of Trinity Episcopal Church, veteran member of the Bohemian Club, prominent Mason, State Commander last year of the Military Order of Loyal Legion, major during the Civil War of the First California Regiment, and for many years after the war a general merchant, with stores in Arizona, New Mexico and at Guaymas.

Maj. Hooper was 68 years of age, a native of Richmond, Va. His nearest surviving relatives are his widow, Mrs. Mary Hooper Perry, wife of Lieut. Perry of the army; George B. Hooper and Miss Rose Hooper, children of his first wife, who was a daughter of Seldon Wright. Maj. Hooper's property is conservatively estimated to be worth $100,000.

Hooper Came to California while yet a young man, and when the Civil War broke out he became major of the original First California Infantry, which was on western duty, going only as far eastward as Salt Lake. After the war, he turned to mercantile business in the Southwest. His fortunes lost, he came to San Francisco, and as an experiment in a new line, undertook the management of the Occidental Hotel. He stayed in the hotel business from that time continuously for twenty years.

Maj. Hooper made the Occidental the headquarters for army and navy officers and Hawaiians. He was a genial host, and had thousands of friends, who will read with regret of his death.

John C. Winans.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—John Carver Winans, a pioneer merchant of this city, and a prominent member of the local Merchants' Association, is dead. He was born in New York in November, 1828.

Henry K. Tuner.

DOWNIEVILLE, July 16.—Henry K. Tuner, one of Sierra county's most prominent citizens, died at Sattley this morning at the age of 74 years. He was a member from this district to the upper house of the Legislature during the eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first sessions. He was also a delegate to the Constitutional Convention in 1878.

THIRTEEN CHINESE KILLED.

VICTORIA (B. C.) July 16.—According to further details regarding the explosion of fire-damp in No. 6 mine of the Wellington Colliery Company last night, there were fifty Chinese and one white boss in the mine at the time. All but twelve got out with safety, although several were badly burned. Manager Matthews, Foreman Short, Mine Managers Walker and Kelsey descended to the pit and worked their way to within ten feet of where the other men are supposed to be. Other volunteers went down, but the work of rescue was delayed by after damp, and John Kelsey, fire boss, narrowly escaped being overcome.

Thirteen bodies are at the morgue, one of the injured having afterward died, and it is expected that another will not live

POLITICAL.

BRADLEY PUT AWAY HONOR.

Refused to Enter Race for the Governorship.

Belknap Receives Nomination on the First Ballot.

Kentucky Republican Convention Adjourns—Warm Resolutions Adopted.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LOUISVILLE, July 17.—The ticket: For Governor, Morris B. Belknap of Louisville.

For Lieutenant-Governor, J. B. Wilhoit of Ashland.

For Treasurer, John A. Black of Barboursville.

For Auditor, George W. Welsh of Danville.

For Attorney-General, William Beckner of Winchester.

For Secretary of State, J. C. Speight of Mayfield.

A second day of picturesque political maneuvering in the State Convention of the Kentucky Republicans failed to culminate in the final grand surprise of a winning dark horse, and Col. Morris B. Belknap of Louisville, a merchant, received the nomination for Governor on the first ballot. His delegates, contrary to predictions, stuck to him, though how much of their tenacity can be charged to the announcement by former Gov. William O. Bradley that he was not a candidate can only be conjectured.

Belknap was nominated after an enthusiastic supporter of Bradley had placed the former Governor in nomination, and the followers of Augustus E. Wilson had tacitly withdrawn the man supposed to be Belknap's nearest competitor by failing to present his name. The threatened stampede to Bradley was quelled by an emphatic declaration that he would not be a candidate, but for some unknown reason the convention officers called his name during the ballot, and he received a greater number of votes than Clifton J. Pratt, who had made an active canvass.

The resolutions, after congratulating the people of the United States upon the unparalleled prosperity achieved under national Republican policies, says:

"We stand for the continuance of existing Republican financial and tariff policies.

"We express our highest appreciation of the record that President Roosevelt has made in continuing the great work begun by William McKinley and in himself dealing with the new problems that he has had to solve.

"We denounce assassination and lawlessness, whether in Servia or in Kentucky, as destructive of civilization, and call upon the enlightened intelligence of the State, through its legislative, executive and julicial agencies, to employ remedies to reestablish order and punish crime within our borders.

"We especially arraign the present State Executive for so exercising the pardoning power as to subserve political and partisan purposes, with the certain effect of encouraging crime by virtually rendering criminals of Democratic political faith immune from punishment."

Nominations for Governor were reached late in the afternoon, when the names of Clifton B. Pratt and Morris B. Belknap were offered. Wilson's backers did not respond when his Congressional district was called. The surprise came when the Eleventh district was called and State Senator Kash arose and sprung the name of a dark horse—former Gov. William O. Bradley. The speech was a master-piece of natural oratory of the fervid Kentucky style and moved the delegates to a wild demonstration. Mr. Bradley finally quelled the tumult by shouting:

"I have declared for four months that I would not accept this nomination. I am an honest man, and while I thank my friends, I adhere to my original resolution. I cannot be a candidate for Governor."

When the roll call of counties was started the name of W. O. Bradley was retained. As the ballot progressed it showed that Bradley drew the Wilson strength and part of Pratt's strength, but failed to materially affect the Bradley vote, and by the time three-fourths of the counties had been called Belknap had received 1147 votes, or 12 more than enough to nominate.

Many counties that had voted for Bradley and Pratt then began changing their votes to Belknap. Just before the roll call was completed Judge Pratt withdrew his name. The nomination of Belknap was then made unanimous. His speech of acceptance was delivered and an adjournment was taken, and the rest of the ticket was completed at the night session.

GRAY FOR PRESIDENCY.

MINERS ARE BOOMING HIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOVER (Del.) July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The determination of the Pennsylvania miners to advocate the nomination of Judge George Gray of Delaware for the Presidency at the next National Democratic Convention, may cause a rehabilitation of the Democracy of lower Delaware. Judge Gray's chances to secure the indorsement of his State, when the farmers of Kent and Sussex counties were to be reckoned with, were slight until recently, and were never considered probable until now. The developments of the past few days, however, have quietlyy worked a change, and a canvass of some of the smaller towns and several railroad trains and among Democratic farmers, reveals the fact that if the convention met tomorrow the anti-Gray men would fail to prevent Gray's indorsement.

The question of secondary importance to lower Delaware Democrats is the labor question. Judge Gray's leadership in this respect recommends him as a foremost Democrat to treat with the labor question. On questions of the tariff he was always a powerful Democratic authority.

KNAPP CONVICTED.

Jury Finds the Strangler Guilty and Refuses to Recommend Him to Mercy of Court.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HAMILTON (O.) July 16.—Alfred A. Knapp was convicted in the first degree for the murder of his wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, by a jury in Judge Belden's court today. The verdict was reached at 7:30 o'clock, the jury having been out since 5 o'clock last night. To the surprise of everybody, there was no recommendation for mercy, and Knapp must go to the electric chair. The jury stood ten for conviction without mercy and two for conviction with mercy, being unanimously for guilt.

When Knapp was brought into court there were but few spectators present, and there was no excitement. Knapp took his seat quietly, and when the verdict was returned he did not show any sign of emotion or make any comment. Knapp was taken back to jail at once, and Sheriff Bisdorf will allow no outsiders to see him.

Knapp's mother and sister were very much affected when they heard the verdict.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS MEETING IN DETROIT.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND PARTICIPATE IN EXERCISES.

Watchwords of the Convention are "Waiting," "Witnessing" and "Working," and Speakers in Keynote Addresses Follow out Ideas Thus Suggested.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DETROIT (Mich.), July 16.—When the Sixth International Convention of the Epworth League met this afternoon, there were, it is estimated, 15,000 leaguers in the city.

The convention was opened at 2:30 o'clock with three great meetings, one in Tent Ontario, at the corner of Fourth and Lafayette avenues; one in the Detroit Opera House, and one in the Central Methodist Episcopal Church. Each meeting followed identically the same programme—addresses of welcome, responses, and a keynote address. The large chorus which was organised among the local singers to furnish the music for the convention was divided, and one-third of the membership sang in each auditorium under the leadership of Evangelists John Hillis, John Black, and Charles D. Tillman.

Rev. Albert Carman, of Toronto, Ont., presided over the meeting at Tent Ontario, where Mayor William C. Maybury welcomed the delegates. Rev. W. H. Shier, D. D., followed with an address of welcome on behalf of the local Methodists. The keynote address was delivered by Rev. D. G. Downey, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Bishop Earl Cranston presided over the Central Methodist Episcopal Church meeting as chairman, and Rev. James Potts, of this city, made the welcoming address. It was responded to by Rev. S. J. Herben, of New York, and the keynote address at this meeting was made by Rev. J. E. Wilson, of Jacksonville, Fla.

The Detroit Opera House was crowded when Rev. H. W. Featherstone, the chairman, presented Gov. Bliss, himself a prominent Methodist, who welcomed the leaguers to the city and State. Rev. George Elliott followed with a welcome on behalf of the Methodists of the city. Rev. H. M. Dubose, of Nashville, Tenn., general secretary of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, responded. The keynote address was delivered by Rev. William Sparling, of Toronto, Ontario.

The watchwords of the convention are "Waiting," "Witnessing," and "Working," and the speakers in their keynote addresses followed out in a general way the ideas represented by these watchwords.

FOUR BIG MEETINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DETROIT, July 16.—Four great Pentecostal meetings were held simultaneously by the Epworth Leaguers tonight. Tent Ontario, with a seating capacity of 5000, was jammed to suffocation, and the operahouse and the Central Methodist Episcopal Church were crowded to their utmost capacity, while the Fort-street Church was comfortably filled. The total registration of delegates tonight had reached 17,000, with more arriving on evedy train.

At the Ontario meeting C. B. Galloway of Jackson, Miss., Bishop of the Methodist Church, South, spoke on "The Eighteenth Century Pentecost," and declared that Wesley and his coadjutors were guided by the divine spirit in their founding of the church. Bishop Galloway referred to the late President McKinley's declaration while in the South that the Confederate graves should be decorated on Memorial Day as well as the Federal, and the sentiment was greeted with a great burst of applause.

NICKELS AND PENNIES.

First Order On Treasury From Pacific Coast for Such Small Coins.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] United States Treasurer Roberts today received a requisition from the subtreasury at San Francisco for $5000 in nickels and $2000 in one-cent pieces. From any part of the country except the Pacific Coast, this demand would not have attracted more than passing notice. The requisition received today is the first of its kind during Mr. Roberts's long connection with the treasury. No information was obtainable here as to the cause of the demand, but Mr. Roberts believes the big department stores are directly responsible.

He predicts that newspapers from the coast will contain advertisements of special sales on articles such as the big Eastern and Middle West stores are accustomed to listing at prices ending in odd cents.

WILL RUN IN HERE INSIDE TWO YEARS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE (Utah), July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. Ross Clark, vice-president of the Salt Lake Railroad Company, arrived here today from New York, where he has been for the past month assisting in the closing of the deal in which the Short Line was acquired. Clark left T. E. Gibbon at St. Louis, and the latter went direct to Los Angeles. Clark will remain here a few days in the interest of the construction work to be commenced soon. Speaking of that this evening, he said: "We expect that the last bid will be in by July 30th. Then we will promptly proceed to award contracts, so that there will be no delay in the work that we are very desirous of having pushed forward with all possible speed. No, I have no idea as to who will get the contracts. All I know is that the biggest construction concerns of the West are competing, which means that they all want to do the work."

Continuing, Clark said: "We have also placed orders for all material, which includes 30,000 tons of 75-pound steel rails and 1,200,000 ties, which are being shipped to Calientes as fast as we can get them there. When the first big section of road building in the gap is under way, we will let contracts for the remaining 200 miles, work upon which will be as expeditiously carried on as men and money will admit of."

When asked about the building of the Tonopah, Deep Creek, Iron County and other branches, Clark replied: "I cannot say definitely when work upon them will commence, except that in the necessity of things we will be obliged to build the main road first. Branch building will, of course, engage our attention extensively in the future, but the main line, as I say, must come first. With reference to that, the contractors will be required under heavy bonds to complete their work in considerably less than two years. In fact, they will be expected to finish the first 135 miles in about ten months. This means one big and important thing, trains will be running into Los Angeles from Salt Lake inside of two years."

CLARK WILL TAKE BONDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The $50,000,000 of fifty-year 4 per cent. gold bonds, which the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad has decided to issue, are to be taken by Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, president and main projector of the road, as a personal investment, according to his son, C. W. Clark, who is now here. The Senator has already advanced the company $18,000,000. Of this amount, $5,000,000 was paid for the Los Angeles Terminal Company; $11,000,000 for the lines of the Oregon Short Line, south of Salt Lake, and $2,000,000 for surveys and new construction.

"My father has a good deal of ready money," said Clark, "and he thinks there is no better way to invest it than by advancing cash to the railroad as it requires it, and taking bonds in payment. His aim is to complete the road as soon as possible. There remains only a gap of 300 miles between Caliente, Nev., and Daggett, a station on the Santa Fe in California."

CONTRACTING AGENT JUNKINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—C. K. Junkins, contracting agent of the Rio Grande office in this city, has been appointed Pacific Coast agent of the El Paso and Northeastern system of the Rock Island road. The new agent has been connected with the Gould roads for more than eight years, and before that was with the Southern Pacific company.

ATCHISON'S CONDITION.

TALK WITH MORAWETZ.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Victor Morawetz, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Santa Fé Railway Company, who has just returned from Europe, upon being asked tonight for a statement of his views upon the financial situation in general and upon the Atchison in particular, said:

"I have been abroad on a vacation, and am not in a position to say anything upon the general situation, but will have to learn about that myself here. The financial condition of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway Company is very satisfactory. The Atchison has today, and had when I went abroad, over $10,000,00 cash in bank, besides a large amount of first mortgage bonds in the treasury. It has no floating debt, and has never had any.

"The business of the road is excellent, and according to indications, the traffic of the new fiscal year will show more favorable returns than that of last year. The physical condition of the system is better than ever. The amount expended on their property during the last fiscal year and charged to maintenance account was very largely in excess of the amount so expended in the previous year. The results of last year's operations have been entirely satisfactory."

When Morawetz was asked in regard to the rumors that the next dividend on the common stock would be passed, he said that such statements were too ridiculous to be dignified with a denial.

UNION PACIFIC LOAN.

SHORT LINE BONDS SECURITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Wall-street Summary says: "The notes which the Union Pacific Railroad Company has sold to secure a loan of $10,000,000 on the interest of the Southern Pacific Company, are secured by $13,500,000 of Oregon Short Line 4 per cents. and participating bonds. Members of the underwriting syndicate have an option on these bonds at 92½ and interest. The purchaser of the Union Pacific note has the right to sell the same, but the option of the bond does not pass with the sales of the certificate, but remains with the original holder."

CALIFORNIA ADVERTISING WEIGHED BY SANTA FE.

EXPENDITURES CUT DOWN PENDING INQUIRY INTO RESULTS.

General Passenger Agent Byrne Forwards Proof of the Big Profits from Publicity—Passengers Barred from Southern Pacific Freight Trains.

Rumor ran around the streets yesterday saying that the genial John J. Byrne, general passenger agent of the Santa Fé, had been censured by his superiors in Chicago for spending too much money in advertising the glories and graces of California and the Southland. Thanks to the railroads and other vigorous, public-spirited bodies, it is generally conceded everywhere that this is the best-advertised section of the world. California is in everybody's mind, and, in order to get the traveling public to use the lines of the Santa Fé in reaching the Golden West, that company has been spending considerable more than $1000 a month in active advertising, to say nothing of poster and pamphlet publicity.

That the high officials of the company should wish now to limit their previous good work in any respect seemed strange.

When asked about the matter last night, Mr. Byrne said:

"Yes, it is true that I have been asked by the Chicago headquarters to cut down my advertising account somewhat, for a while at least, but by no means will there be a cessation of exploiting the many great attractions of the Golden State, and the unique features of the great Southwest. You are mistaken when you say that I have been 'censured.' My superiors have simply seen fit to take a sort of inventory in the matter, and they are doubtless wanting to know something about definite results from work already done in the advertising line.

"There is no question that what we have done heretofore has paid, and it is common knowledge that the volume of our business has increased tremendously in these latter years. I have taken the pains to forward some figures to Chicago that will speak for themselves. In our traffic business to Coronado Beach and San Diego, during the past ten years, there has been an increase of 120 per cent., and in this connection it is to be remembered that San Diego has not grown much, if any, within that time. As for business around the 'Kite-shaped track,' our records cover only a period of seven years, but the percentage of increase is over 300."

NO MORE "ON THE HOG."

Drummers and other sorts of traveling men will be interested in an announcement, given out by Assistant General Freight and Passenger Agent Parkyns yesterday, that after July 31 next, the Southern Pacific will permit no passenger travel upon its freight trains—excepting such as are provided with passenger coaches and designated in published schedules as "mixed" trains. Heretofore, those holding mileage or scrip books, have been permitted to use freight trains between regular stopping places, as the contract of such mileage tickets and scrip books contains a clause releasing the railroad company from liability. In order to further safeguard patrons it has been decided to withdraw the privilege altogether, as one fraught with more or less danger to those availing themselves of it.

MEXICAN RAILWAY PUSHER.

Ex-Judge P. O. Saunders, known the length and breadth of the Texas Panhandle in a judicial capacity, but more recently a resident of the City of Mexico, is a guest at the Hollenbeck Hotel. This is his first visit to Los Angeles and his sojourn here will be given to the pursuit of pleasure. He is an enthusiastic exponent of the possibilities of the Southern republic evidencing his faith in its future by large mining investments at Pachuca and Guanajuato, both claims being located within the limits of the cities named. Mr. Saunders's most important interest, however, is the promotion of a railway that will, when completed, extend from Coaltacalcos, on the Tehuantepec railroad, to Merida, the capital of Yucatan, traversing the States of Chiapas, Tobasco, Campeche and connecting with the Yucatan system, thus making a through line to the Gulf coast. Saunders asserts that the people of the United States have not even begun to appreciate the possibilities of Mexico, and that, marvelous as has been the development in recent years, the immediate future of the sister republic is big with promise. He further states that the fear of changed conditions with the passing of President Diaz is wholly without foundation. The Mexicans have learned to love peace, are anxious to extend a welcome to any who will develop their resources and give every protection to person and property interests.

SOME STORIETTES.

Local railway offices were in receipt yesterday of the official announcement of the San Francisco and Northwestern Railway Company, that it had acquired by purchase the Eel River and Eureka Railroad Company, the California-Midland Railroad Company, and the railroad of the Pacific Lumber Company. CHIEF ARTHUR DROPS DEAD.

Dramatic End of Life of the Engineers' Leader.

His Last Words Prophetic of the Fate Awaiting Him.

Knocks Car Man Likely to Strike. Mob Tries to Wreck Kellogg Building.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WINNIPEG (Man.) July 16.—P. M. Arthur, Grand Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, dropped dead at midnight, while speaking at the banquet closing the annual convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which has been in session for the past few days.

Mr. Arthur had just risen to respond to a toast, and repeated the words, "It is my parting words to many of you," when he fell backward, and expired a few minutes afterward.

Mr. Arthur was born in Scotland about seventy years ago. He came to this country when a lad and began learning his trade as a blacksmith. He worked in the shops of the New York and Harlem Railroad, and after began work as a machinist. At that time, his love for engineering drew him to shaw itself and he started at the bottom of the ladder as engineer. He graduated as fireman and later as engineer. He served his apprenticeship on the New Haven road.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was formed, in 1863, Arthur being one of the leaders. After the organization had gained a foothold in 1874, Arthur was made Grand Chief Engineer, and has been continuously reelected ever since. He was considered the most powerful labor leaders in the United States, and was one of those who believe that the strike is a last resort of laboring men. By this he succeeded in winning the support of important railroad officials in all parts of the country, and had the confidence of the men whom he represented.

He was an American Railway Union delegate in 1894, Arthur was looked upon as being prepared to meet the followers of the country with the followers of labor when it became necessary to speak he discouraged strike as much as possible.

IN JOEY'S FOOTSTEPS.

Eldest Son of Colonial Secretary Displeases Him by Falling in Love With American Girl.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Exceptional interest has been excited in society, political and diplomatic circles in London by a prevalent report that Austen Chamberlain, M. P., eldest son of Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain, is engaged to be married to Miss Muriel White, the only daughter of Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy here. This, in itself, would be news of importance, but additional interest is imparted from the fact that Joseph Chamberlain is bitterly opposed to the marriage. It is reported that in his opposition is found the reason why the engagement has not been formally announced.

Inasmuch as Joseph Chamberlain married Miss Endicott of Massachusetts, daughter of President Cleveland's Secretary of War, London society is amused at his opposition to the marriage of his son to an American girl, especially an American girl so beautiful as Miss White, and so charming. But the Colonial Secretary has ambitions for his son. Austen Chamberlain is by no means a youth. He is 40 years old, but he does not look to be over 30. His reputation, social and political, is unblemished. He has accumulated wealth, and his prospects are most promising, because he enjoys a wide popularity. Joseph Chamberlain, it is said, feels that his eldest son should more materially assist his prospects by marrying into one of the great wealthy families. To do this would not be difficult for Austen Chamberlain.

FOUR LIVES LOST.

Early Morning Fire in the Bonner Springs Sanatorium Quickly Reduces the Building to Ashes.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BONNER SPRINGS (Kan.) July 16.—Four persons lost their lives early this morning which destroyed Bonner Springs Sanatorium, at Bonner Springs, Kan., seventeen miles west of Kansas City. The dead:

CAPT. J. A. M'CLURE, Junction City, Kan.

MISS JENNIE CAMPBELL, patient, Iola, Kan.

DR. A. E. ROGERS, the steward.

MRS. A. A. COOK, patient, Lawrence.

The fire started in the laundry at the west end of the main building, and reached the roof of the main structure before it was discovered. A light wind drove the blaze into the halls and rooms on every floor. The entire building was filled with smoke before the inmates, some thirty in number, were awakened. A nurse, Payne, by name, went into the hall and heard Dr. Rogers calling for help. Payne broke the door open and led Rogers part of the way down the hall. He reached the porch only to find that Dr. Rogers had not followed. Later it was found that Dr. Rogers had stopped to save a woman patient, and was himself burned to death. All those who were burned were evidently first suffocated, as none were heard to scream.

The bodies of Dr. Rogers and one of the women have been recovered. Workmen are searching for the others.

The fire was first discovered at 2 o'clock. Thirty minutes later there was nothing except the foundation standing. The building was three stories high and contained sixty rooms. Loss about $20,000.

BRAKEMAN KILLS HOBO.

TUCSON (Ariz.) July 16.—Jack Mather, a freight brakeman of the Southern Pacific, was attacked by a gang of hobos near Pantano station today, who boarded his train, and demanded to be carried to the next station. Mather refused, and ordered them off the train. The leader drew a big knife and rushed at Mather, who pulled a six-shooter, and shot him twice, killing him instantly.

FACING OBSTACLES.

Silver Exchange Commissioners Unable Apparently to Arrange for a Bullion Purchase Arrangement.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, July 16.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The American and Mexican International Silver Exchange Commissioners met the representatives of the German government for their first conference today. Germany was represented by President Koch and Director Lumm of the Reichsbank; Privy Counsellor Dombois of the Imperial Treasury, Count Von Roedorn of Prussian Finance Ministry, Prof. Helfferich of the Colonial Bureau; Roland Lacke of the Deutsche Bank, Arthur Salomonsohn of the Disconto-Gelleschaft, and Franzurbig of the German-Asiatic Bank.

The conference lasted an hour, and was then adjourned until Saturday. The Associated Press correspondent learns that Germany's representatives recognize the desirability of fixing the ratio of exchange between silver and gold countries, but regard a scheme in that direction merely as a pious wish. From a trustworthy German source, the correspondent is informed that the British and French governments flatly refused to obligate themselves to the purchase of a fixed amount of silver yearly for Indian and colonial coinage. This is one of the commission's proposals, to keep stable the ratio between silver and gold.

The delegates recognize that absolutely nothing is possible without the coöperation of Great Britain and France, and it is not believed here that the commission's work will lead to the calling of an international conference.

THOSE ISLES OF BORNEO.

Great Britain Said to Claim Them and an Explanation of Seizure Asked from Washington.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, July 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] According to the Daily Chronicle, the action of America in annexing the islands of Borneo raises an exceedingly delicate situation and the British Foreign Office has asked Washington for an explanation.

The islands concerned, says the paper, are a group of seven which originally belonged to the Sultan of Sulu, from whom they passed by a charter in 1881 to the control of the British North Borneo Company, whose officers confirm that they are undoubtedly British territory. They are insignificant in size, but of the highest strategic importance, dominating Sankian Harbor and Labukay.

DEATH IN RED LIGHT.

SALINAS, July 16.—Charles E. Craven, the son of a prominent rancher of Sanger, Cal., murdered a young woman named Sadie Block, the daughter of the president of the Block manufacturing Company of Virginia, and then committed suicide in a house in the red light district.

The officers found the bodies of Craven and the woman stretched on a bed, with their throats severed from ear to ear. In a letter addressed to his parents at Sanger, Craven said it was impossible for him to live without the woman. He had taken her out of a house of ill-fame previously, she promising not to return, but she had gone back.

CLUB FOR MILLIONAIRES.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A new social organization to be known as the Brook Club is being formed. The membership will be limited to 200, and it probably will be the most expensive and exclusive club in the country. English methods will prevail, and the dues will bar all except millionaires from joining.

FINANCIAL LEGISLATION.

President Hopes for Action by Congress.

Conference With Senator Lodge Over the Situation.

Senate Committee Now at Work on Draft of Bill—Alaskan Boundary Commission.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OYSTER BAY (L. I.) July 16.—The President is deeply interested in proposed financial legislation. As a student of affairs he has noted for a long time the necessity of financial legislation of a remedial character, and today he expressed to Senator Lodge of Massachusetts his desire that early action upon the subject should be taken by Congress along the lines of his recent messages and speeches. Indeed, it can be said he hopes action will be initiated at the extra session of Congress, which he will call on Monday, November 9.

Senator Lodge arrived here this morning, and passed the day with the President at Sagamore Hill. He is a member of the Alaskan Boundary Commission, which is to begin its sessions in London early in September. Before sailing for England tomorrow on the steamer Cedric, he came to Oyster Bay to consider with the President, among other things the work of the commission. He left this evening for New York. Before his departure, Senator Lodge gave to the Associated Press a statement concerning his conference with the President. In this statement the President's hopes regarding financial legislation are reflected.

"We discussed," said Senator Lodge, "a variety of topics, including the work of the Alaskan Boundary Commission, which is to begin in London early in September.

"Yes," the Senator continued, in response to an inquiry as to whether he had discussed with the President the proposed extra session of Congress, "we considered it at some length."

"You know, of course, that an extra session is to be called to meet on Monday, November 9, immediately following the fall elections. This session will be called primarily for the purpose of enacting legislation approving the Cuban treaty, which was ratified by the Senate last spring, and the President hopes that we shall be able to take up for early consideration financial legislation along the lines of his messages and his speeches. This legislation requires the deepest inquiry."

"Did you discuss with the President any specific financial measure?"

"No, not at all. No specific bill was under consideration. The preparation of a measure of that kind is the work of Congress itself. It was understood when the Senate adjourned last spring that the Committee on Finance would prepare a remedial financial measure during the recess. The committee now is engaged on that work. I assume that the House Committee on Banking and Currency will also take up the subject, but I am not informed whether it is the intention of that committee to begin consideration of the matter before the extra session shall convene.

"As I noted the President is deeply interested in this proposed legislation, and it is his hope and desire that early action may be taken by Congress to remedy existing financial conditions."

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES.

Martin Zidmair was convicted at Livingston, Mont., yesterday of murder in the first degree, and on Tuesday will be sentenced to be hanged. Zidmair killed George Rider on Trial Creek in April, 1901.

The Reorganization Committee of the United States Shipbuilding Company announced yesterday a further extension to July 27 for the deposit of bonds under the reorganization plan.

The proposed plan of the reorganization of the Bay State Gas Company of Delaware will provide for the scaling down of the outstanding $350,000,000 stock to $26,000,000.

The pay car on the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis Railroad collided with a freight train yesterday near Medora, Ill. Engineer Denis Harvey of Springfield, was instantly killed.

Schedules in bankruptcy have been filed by the Bardwell Votometer Company of New York, a corporation formed to manufacture voting machines. The liabilities were placed at $42,300; assets unknown, but consisting chiefly of its patents.

The City Council of Chicago has passed an ordinance giving the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph Company the right to construct and operate for twenty-six years tunnels for the transmission of parcels and merchandise, as well as for a telephone business.

William H. Doerner of Cumberland, Md., has been arrested on a warrant sworn out by Clarence Christie, auditor of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad charging Doerner with embezzling $17,341 of the company's funds. Doerner had been cashier for ten years, and declares he is a victim of faulty book-keeping.

A presentment has been found by the grand jury against Frank Manoley, the young wood-worker who says he shot his wife while dreaming he was attacked by a burglar. Manoley passees most of his time in his cell reading his Bible.

Pianola Advantages.

The Pianola is a means to an end, the end being music. Its mastery requires neither arduous and unceasing application, nor is musical understanding necessary to its employment. Considered solely as a means, the advantages of the Pianola are readily apparent.

But it is in the enormous amount of music which the Pianola makes possible that its value is strikingly manifest.

Music of all kinds and classes to the amount of over 10,000 pieces, is instantly available to the owner of the Pianola.

HUNDREDS OF MEN MAY DIE FOR FERRERA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SOLEDAD (Venezuela) July 16.—[By South American Cable.] The Associated Press correspondent has secured copies of telegrams exchanged between the rebel leader, Rolando, and President Castro with respect to a conditional capitulation of the insurgent forces in Ciudad Bolivar. The following is Gen. Rolando's dispatch to Castro:

"I desire to avoid shedding blood, which must prove futile in view of the exceptional circumstances in which the revolution is placed. After having agitated the public for upward of two years, it seems that you have an opportunity of terminating the long struggle by the exercise of a little patriotism, by guaranteeing the personal liberty of Gen. Ferrera, who, according to Vice-President Gomez, is the only obstacle, and authorizing the latter to accept a formal treaty instead of an unconditional surrender as he desires, which is also another obstacle.

"The foregoing suggestion does not in any way involve a manifestation of weakness either on the part of the self-denying and heroic army I have the honor to command, or on my part, for if unfortunately we are not able to arrive at an honorable settlement my army will know how to do its duty.

"With esteem, I remain,

[Signed] "NICALOUS ROLANDO."

Gen. Castro replied last night as follows:

"If you were really an honorable and patriotic man you would not have entered into this revolution of a most unjustifiable and criminal nature, not only because of its entire lack of motive, but because of connivance it has had with the enemies of the country, or which is the same thing, with foreigners.

"It seems to me, to ask under these circumstances that the double traitor Ferrera be included in the exercise of mercy is a height of iniquity. Speaking to you in sincere language so that you may realize for all time that I prefer the triumph of the principles of justice at all cost, guarantees cannot be granted to Ferrera by one who upholds above all else truth, right, justice and equity.

"Referring to the last paragraph of your telegram regarding the fulfillibent of your duty, it is neither for me nor for you to judge who have done their duty; that remains to posterity and history.

"Your countryman,

[Signed] "CIPRIANO CASTRO."

In view of these telegrams, the opening of hostilities which was improbable yesterday, appear inevitable today.

UNCLE SAM INNOCENT PARTY TO FRAUDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The present investigation of Federal authorities into postal abuses promises to assume a much wider scope than first expected. It has become known that a majority of the get-rich-quick schemes of recent and rapid growth depend almost, if not altogether upon mail orders for revenue. The Postoffice Department has thus been made a party to some of the most gigantic swindles ever conceived by men who live by their wits.

There is a growing opinion that the popular belief that the mail is sacred, and that communications under seal and property transmitted through the mails should not be tampered with, except in extreme cases, is responsible for the loss of millions to innocent investors. The collapse of the American Finance and Mortgage Company has brought the department face to face with a condition that cannot be explained away by any sort of theories, but the abuse is an old one, and was worked to its most profitable limit before the company referred to was in existence. It is asserted in some quarters that the E. S. Dean Co. alone cleaned up over $5,000,000 and that other companies fleeced the public of hundreds of thousands.

Investors and creditors of the American Finance and Mortgage Company can learn of nothing to their advantage at the offices of the concern, No. 112 Wall street. Even without paying rent for its fourth-floor offices for the current month, $32.33, the "get-rich-quick" concern closed its doors. E. A. Cruikshank & Co., of No. 141 Broadway, agents for Caroline H. Lyman, owner of the Wall-street building, have posted a dispossession notice on the doors of the former office. At the same time Postoffice Inspector Brown issued an order stopping any further delivery of mail matter to the concern.

REDONDO.

TWO SALOONS GET LICENSES.

REDONDO, July 16.—Another exciting meeting of the Board of Trustees was held this evening to settle the liquor question. The Board held an executive meeting and thrashed the matter over previous to meeting in the Council chamber. That the discussion was long and earnest, was evinced by the long delay before taking their seats. The result was that the two applicants having the necessary frontage were granted saloon licenses. The action at the former meeting revoking those licenses was reconsidered. At the executive meeting it was learned that the views of the members were different, and it was quite a while before they could get to a working basis, as no two members took the same view of the matter. Finally a compromise was agreed upon with the result that Redondo will now have two saloons during the next year. The other three applicants for licenses, it is understood, will contest the ordinance.

M. E. Devore was appointed Recorder to fill the position occupied by the late Welcome Smith. His bonds were fixed in the sum of $200. The ordinance necessary for his appointment was approved and adopted at tonight's meeting, but as it does not become a law until after its publication on Saturday, the oath of office will not be administered until Monday.

SANTA FE PICNIC.

Three thousand employes of the Santa Fe and their families enjoyed their annual picnic here today. Three special trains were run from San Bernardino, arriving here at 8 a.m. and departing for home at 8 p.m. A dinner in the pavilion and all kinds of sports occupied the day in the open air. The members of the Executive Committee in charge of the event were: A. B. Todd, general manager; N. Perkins, chairman; Benjamin Whitman, secretary.

BEACH NOTES.

Banner Hive, No. 3, of Los Angeles, assisted by Redondo Hive, No. 1, gave an enjoyable and successful ball at the Auditorium tonight. The assemblage was large and brilliant.

The Buckeyes will hold an picnic here Saturday. A committee of local Ohioans has been appointed for their reception. A programme has been arranged. With a short business session in the morning, speeches and dancing in the afternoon. Mayor Snyder of Los Angeles has been asked to deliver the reception address.

DEMAND THE VOUCHERS.

HONOLULU, July 16.—Allegations have been made that the vouchers of the expenses incurred by the regular session of the House of Representatives have either been concealed or destroyed and the newspapers demand their publication. It is charged that scandalous revelations would result from their publicity. Clerk Mehula of the House denies that the vouchers are in his possession.

SHIP TRUSTS' APPEAL.

TRENTON (N. J.) July 16.—Judge Kirkpatrick today signed an order allowing an appeal from his own action in appointing a receiver for the United States Shipbuilding Company. Counsel for the company, in asking for an appeal, declared the company is not insolvent; that at the time the receiver was appointed the company was not in default for interest on outstanding bonds; that it had no unpaid obligations; that the appointment of a receiver has caused mortgages amounting to $26,000,000 to become due, and that this would cause mortgage holders to be entitled to immediate possession of mortgaged property, which is substantially all of its assets.

Leave the Annuity Association.

OAKLAND, July 16.—The Teachers' Annuity Association today suffered a heavy loss in membership owing to the withdrawal of eighty-three of its members. The reason for their resignation is that the insurance of the fund was of no pactical bneflt to the members unless they had complied with almost impossible conditions. The withdrawal meant a loss of $5000 to the association, the last Legislature having granted the right to members to recover the money they paid into the fund.

Did not Wait for Cancer.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Charles Schaeffer, a cooper, 60 years of age, committed suicide by asphyxiation with gas today. He lived in Sacramento, where he had a wife. Schaeffer was afflicted with cancer of the tongue, and was told by his physician that he had only a month to live. He left brief messages to relatives announcing his intention to kill himself.

Train Ditched Near Tulare.

TULARE, July 16.—This afternoon the caboose and one oil car of a northbound extra freight train were ditched four miles south of Tulare, tearing up track for nine rail lengths and blocking traffic for several hours. It is supposed that the accident was due to the swaying of oil in the huge oil cars. Conductor Erbes, who was in the caboose at the time, was bruised about the head.

The Biggest Man.

"Tough luck!" lamented the biggest man in the world yesterday. "Here I am in the biggest city of the Western Hemisphere, and yet I can't go out on the street to have a look at New York without attracting so much attention that it deprives me of all pleasure."

Submissively he folded his hands, each of which measures a foot from wrist to finger tip, crossed his knees and swung pendulum fashion a foot on which was a No. 22 russet shoe. It was stifling in the apartment at the Vanderbilt Hotel, on East Forty-second street, and by the time he had slid his handkerchief around his No. 21 collar he had to start all over again to cool off.

His name is Edward Beaupre. He is 22 years old, his height is 8 feet 2¼ inches and he weighs 367 pounds. His title of "biggest man in the world" is undisputed. And he's still growing. Within the last two years he has shot up three and a quarter inches.

Beaupre was born of French-Canadian parents in the settlement of Willow Bunch, Northwestern Territory, about twenty miles from the Montana boundary. His father is a well-to-do ranchman, and Edward has come East to see the sights. He says he has found traveling disagreeable, because only a little more than half of him can rest comfortably in the Pullman sleepers. He likes the West better than the East, because distances are on a bigger scale out there, and an eight-foot-something man out on the plains doesn't show up so big until one gets close to him.

Beaupre weighed nine pounds when he was born. He was just like other babies until at the age of three he began to grow with remarkable speed. His parents are of normal size. He was 6 feet 4 when nine years old. Now it takes thirteen yards of cloth to make him a suit of clothes. He has two brothers and four sisters, none of whom is remarkable for size except one of the boys, aged nine, who is 5 feet 8 and growing at a rate at which he will soon catch up to his big brother.

Beaupre wears a No. 19 hat. He has lived all his life on a ranch and is in perfect health, mentally and physically. Six years ago, before he got too big to ride horseback, he came a cropper while hunting and fractured his jaw. The bone enlarged and could not be reduced. Except for this misfortune he is fair of feature and symmetrically built. His appetite calls for no more than the average-sized man eats. He has been unable to get a comfortable fit in beds since arriving in New York, and has to temporize with two chairs stationed at the footboard on which to rest about two feet of legs.—[New York World.

New Methodist Service.

A new form of public worship has been adopted by representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North and South, who have been in conference at Ocean Grove, N. J. Of this joint committee Bishop Merrill of Chicago has been chairman. The order of service is as follows:

(Let all our services begin exactly at the time appointed., and let all our people kneel in silent prayer on entering the sanctuary.)

(1.) Voluntary, instrumental or vocal.

(2.) Singing from the common hymnal, the people standing.

(3.) The apostles' creed, recited by all, still standing.

(4.) Prayer, concluding with the Lord's Prayer, repeated audibly by all, both minister and people kneeling. (a.)

(5.) Anthem or voluntary.

(6.) Lesson from the Old Testament, which, if from the Psalms, may be read responsively. (b.)

(7.) The "Gloria Patri."

(8.) Lesson from the New Testament.

(9.) Notices, followed by the collection, during or after which an offertory may be rendered.

(10.) Singing from the common hymnal, the people standing.

(11.) The sermon.

(12.) Prayer, the people kneeling.

(13.) Singing from the common hymnal, the people standing. (The order of prayer and singing may be reversed.) (c.)

(14.) Doxology and the apostolic benediction. (II Corinthians xiii, 14.)

(a) Let all our people be exhorted to kneel in prayer, keeping their faces toward the minister.

(b) In the afternoon or evening the lesson from the Old Testament may be omitted.

(c) An invitation to come to Christ, or to unite with the church, shall be given when this hymn is announced.—[Springfield Republican.

PACIFIC SLOPE.

WAITED LONG FOR JEPHSON.

Harsh Father Dead and Way Clear for Marriage.

Romance of Young Explorer and a California Heiress.

Heroic Act of Jack Stelzner. Y. M. C. A. Jubilee Week. Mary Sylva's False Alarm.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Anna Head, a California heiress, has started with her mother for London, where she will marry Lieut. A. Mounteney Jephson, one of Stanley's assistants in the famous Emin Pasha relief expedition. This is the climax to a love romance which began ten years ago, but which was checked for all these years by Millionaire Head, who refused to make any settlements unless the girl married a title. Head died recently and now the girl, who has waited all these years, will wed the man whom she loves. Her fortune in her own right amounts to over half a million.

Jephson was enabled to form a part of the Stanley expedition through the liberality of his aunt, Lady Jephson, who paid £1000, Stanley exacted from all his lieutenants a written promise that they would not publish any book until one year after his own book was published. Jephson wrote a good book, and he was the only one of Stanley's officers who came out of the expedition with any credit. Maj. Barttelot, the ablest officer, proved to be a monster of cruelty, and was killed by a native.

Jephson's health was broken by African fever, and he came to California to recuperate. Here he met Miss Head and love soon sprang up. But her father refused to make any marriage settlements, because Jephson had no title, so the engagement was broken, because Jephson could not marry without money. Miss Head grieved over the matter and refused several good offers. Now she has gone to wed the man she has loved all these years.

WAYWARD MARY SILVA.

SHE MAKES A CONFESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MARTINEZ, July 16.—Mary Silva, the 13-year-old girl who was found chained to a tree in the Contra Costa county hills several weeks ago, has confessed that her story told at that time was untrue.

She said she had been wayward, and desired to conceal the fact from her parents so she arranged with John Dias, a man employed about her father's dairy to meet her and padlock her to the tree. Dias was taken into custody but was afterward released, there being no charge on which to hold him.

UNJUSTLY IMPRISONED.

AMERICAN IN RUSSIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN RAFAEL, July 16.—George McCamish, whose relatives live here has written them from a Russian prison at Vladivostock appealing for help. Although the letter was written and mailed six weeks ago, it has just reached here.

McCamish and two other Americans sailed from Yokohama with permission from the government of Japan to hunt fur animals in the Kurrie Islands. They were caught in a gale and swept toward the Russian islands, where they eventually went ashore to get water and other supplies. The Russians suspected them of sealing and threw them into jail. There they have since remained, half starved and shut off from any appeal to the representative of their government, doomed to long terms of imprisonment. An effort will be made to have the authorities at Washington act in the matter.

ROBBERY OF ANGELENO.

CHARGE AGAINST ROBERTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—After an absence of nearly seven weeks, Detective Thomas Ryan arrived from Washington State today with George Roberts and took him to the City Prison, where he will await trial on a robbery charge.

Roberts was held to answer by Judge Morgan on May 3, for robbery of W. A. Perry of Los Angeles of $56, and was released on $1000 bail. When his case was called in the Superior Court he failed to answer. A few days later he was arrested at Seattle, and Detective Ryan was sent after the prisoner. Ryan met with much legal opposition, and made several futile attempts to bring the prisoner south before he was finally successful.

OVERPRODUCTION.

SHINGLE MILLS SUFFERING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The effort made during the latter part of June to close down the red-cedar shingle mills in the State of Washington did not meet with the entire support of the manufacturers, although more than a hundred mills closed for from two to four weeks and the rest for a brief period of from three to ten days.

On account of the probability of concerted action "A" prices stiffened slightly, and many millmen believing this to be an indication of a better market, refused to bind themselves longer than for a few days preceding July 4. The partial shut-down had a slightly beneficial effect, but because it was not wholly successful left the market still overstocked with shingles and prices will undoubtedly go down.

The Washington Red Cedar Shingle Manufacturers' Association is trying to organize the four hundred mills throughout the State to close down during the winter long enough to clean up the market. Efforts will be made to have the mills close throughout the State during December, January and February.

JAPANESE TEA.

EFFORTS TO ENLARGE MARKET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Japan Central Tea Association of Japan has sent Kihei Aizawa as a special commissioner to the United States to look after and increased American sales, but differs from trusts in this country. The association numbers more than a million growers and controls not only tea for export, but also tea kept for home consumption. There are practically no tea plantations outside of the association.

Aizawa says the salient feature of the administration of the association consists of committees which are constantly traveling over the country inspecting plantations. Tea has to be up to standard, or it is refused. In the factories there are inspectors who examine every shipment of tea before it is put upon the market, and if it does not come up to the standard, it is rejected. The association has established agencies in New York, Chicago and Montreal, and through these it is intended to push the sale of tea, which is considered in Japan a healthier drink than coffee.

Aizawa will visit the principal cities of the United States before returning to Japan.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Government Wireless Stations.

PORT TOWNSEND (Wash.) July 16.—A wireless telegraph station will be established here at once by the United States government. The stations will also be established at Forts Casey and Flagler, and on several of the San Juan islands. It is thought that the wireless stations on the islands will greatly assist the customs officials in apprehending smuggling craft.

Horse Trader Missing.

SAN JOSE, July 16.—John Rose, a horse trader, well known throughout the State, is missing. He has stock near this city, and was last seen on last Monday evening at his camp on the place. His friends have reported his disappearance to the police.

Caught With Booty on Him

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—William Hoffman, a recent arrival from the interior of the State, was held up, beaten and robbed by two masked men on Jackson street, near East, this morning. The footpads secured a gold watch and chain and a small sum of money from their victim, and, after cautioning him to silence, fled in different directions. One of them, giving the name of Joseph Walsh, was arrested, and part of the stolen property found in his possession.

Second Attempt Successful.

STOCKTON, July 16.—Carl Nelson, a stranger, committed suicide at the Pacific Hospital here this afternoon by choking himself to death. He came to the City Jail last night for a bed, and was accommodated. During the night he tried to hang himself, but failed. He had been drinking, and his failure to end his life seemed to make a raving maniac of him. He was taken to the Detention Hospital, and today he finished the job.

Crime of Jealous Man.

REDDING, July 16.—Jack Burbank, a miner, fired three shots into the body of Dora Struber at Bully Hill last night, killing her instantly. Then he turned the pistol against his own neck and fired. He will live. As Constable H. F. Williams came running into the room, Burbank snapped a fifth cartridge in the officer's face, but the cartridge did not explode. Burbank's act was caused by fear that he was supplanted in the affections of the woman.

Gas Kills Mrs. Boland.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Seized with a fainting spell as she was extinguishing the gas in the bathroom of her residence on Cole street, this morning, Mrs. Mary E. Boland, aged 42, wife of W. F. Boland, a former well-known attorney of Superior, Wis., fell to the floor, and before she could revive was asphyxiated by the escaping gas.

San Francisco's Population.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The City Directory for 1903, which has just been circulated, shows an increase of several thousand names over 1902. It is estimated upon average figures that it contains something over 175,000 names, whereas last year's directory had but about 170,000. It indicates, according to the usually accepted method of calculation, that San Francisco has a population of 387,500.

Field Day at Presidio.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—This was the annual field day of the Artillery Corps at the Presidio. There were various drill contests and feats of strength and agility which were witnessed by a large assemblage of military men and civilians.

Insurance Solicitor Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Carleton Seligman, an insurance solicitor, who came here from Portland, Or., about two months ago, has been arrested on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. He is said to have obtained something over $1000, one of his alleged victims being ex-Superior Judge Bahrs. Manager Russell of the Conservative Life Insurance Company, for which Seligman acted as agent, says that the latter's scheme was to sell a policy that no reputable company could afford to issue. Therefore the people he was writing insurance for had been paying for something they could not get.

Hypnotist's Wrong Guess.

SAN JOSE, July 16.—To test the statement made by hypnotists that the body of S. W. Boring, the missing pioneer, would be found in the mill pond near Alviso, a search was made this forenoon without success. All efforts to find Boring dead or alive have thus far proved unavailing.

Pardee Appoints Browne.

SACRAMENTO, July 16.—Gov. Pardee today appointed Rose E. Browne of San Francisco, a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Mining Bureau, vice Frank G. Drum, resigned. Browne is one of the best-known mining engineers in the State.

Leper Ordered Deported.

SALINAS, July 16.—See Mane, a Chinese hermit, who lives on Carmel Bay and who is charged with being in the United States without having a certificate of identity, and also with being a leper, was examined before United States Commissioner G. A. Daugherty this morning and ordered to be deported to China.

Prof. Angell Sick.

BERKELEY, July 16.—James R. Angell, assistant professor of experimental psychology of the University of Chicago and a member of the faculty of the University of California, Summer School, has been compelled to give up work here on account of nervous prostration. He has started for Chicago. Prof. George Stratton will succeed him.

FOREST FIRE PERIL.

San Gabriel Blaze Causes Renewal of Agitation for More Rangers—Flames Under Control.

Despite the promise of Washington authorities to increase the force of rangers in Southern California, only thirty men are under the supervision of the local Land Office, and Forest Supervisor Thomas is making every possible effort to meet the requirements of his position. He reports that since June 1 there have been fourteen fires in the San Gabriel reservation that have required action by the Federal authorities, and owing to the small force employed, it has been most difficult to master them."

When the local office, backed by a strong petition from the Chamber of Commerce, asked for an increase in the number of rangers, notice was received from Washington that the matter would be given attention as soon as possible, but so far no relief has been given.

The fire in the San Gabriel Cañon has again aroused those most interested in forest and water protection, and it is possible that the matter will again be taken up by the Chamber of Commerce. The San Gabriel Cañon fire is now under control, and the authorities have no fear that it will spread further, but there is always a possibility that a fire will break out in other portions of the reservation that could not be controlled by the force that is now counted upon by the department.

Recently a telephone line was constructed from Palmdale to the Big Horn mine, situated on North Baldy, the larger portion of the expense being borne by the owners of the Big Horn mine. This mine is situated at the headwaters of the San Gabriel River, forty miles from Azusa, and it would be an easy matter to notify the local office in case a fire should be started in the interior country.

Tit for Tat.

The Princess Chinquilla, daughter of the late Lone Star, chief of the Cheyennes, attended a reception not long ago attired in the native costume of her rank. The Princess is a Carlisle graduate, and an unusually bright and interesting young woman, quick to think and to speak. Her costume was rather conspicuous, and presently it became the subject of conversation among a little party about her.

"Do you wear it on the streets of New York, Princess?" inquired a man.

"Not now," she replied. "I did when I first came to the East, but the people laughed at me so I changed it to your native style. I laughed, too, at the hats your women wore, and I thought how delighted our wild chiefs would be if they could have headdresses like those."—[New York Times.

Expert Truss Fitting
Fitting a truss is an important thing. A truss that does not fit properly is worse than none at all, and it is liable to be injurious. One of the most prominent features of Sun Store No. 2 is the truss business. We have one of the most expert fitters in Southern California and he takes particular pride in fitting difficult cases. If you need a truss, come here and let him fit you quickly, properly, comfortably and at the lowest price for which good work can be done.
Elastic hosiery and abdominal supporters also made to order. Remember the place, Sun Store No. 2, 231 South Broadway.

Use Cucumber and Benzoin Cream for Tan and Sunburn. 4 ounce bottle 25c.
This is one of the Sun's own products, and cannot be found elsewhere.
Try it. It's fine.

Sure Death To ANTS
25c
The only genuine sure death for ants can be gotten at Sun Stores alone. No other store in town sells the genuine "SURE DEATH"
It not only kills ants but exterminates roaches, bedbugs, etc.

Take Palmo Tablets
For the nerves. They cure that tired feeling and make you strong. All Sun Stores.
50c a Box.

Things for the Bath and Beach
Are more in demand than usual just now and we are prepared to supply your needs at the most economical figures. Some of the things you are sure to need every day are bath brushes, wash rags, sponges, sponge bags, bath mats, towels, rubber, sponges, soaps, witch hazel, etc. For the beach you want rubber bathing caps, bathing suit cases, roll traveling cases, etc. See special display at Sun No. 1. The prices are the most interesting feature.

Genuine Russian Kumyss on draught and in bottles at all Sun stores. Try it for health's sake.

FOREIGNERS HERE TO STUDY CONDITIONS.

DEEPLY INTERESTED IN WESTERN THRIFT AND ENTERPRISE.

Walter Freudenberg of Germany and Ernest Bally of Switzerland Touring the United States in the Interest of Their Respective Firms.

Among those sojourning at the Angelus are Walter Freudenberg, of Weinheim, Germany, and Ernest Bally, of Schoenenwerd, Switzerland. Mr. Freudenberg is a representative of the Carl Freudenberg Co., the largest calf-skin manufacturers of the Fatherland, and Mr. Bally is of the firm of C. F. Bally & Sons, operating the largest shoe-manufacturing concern in all Europe.

These men are touring the United States for the purpose of studying trade conditions, and incidentally deriving great pleasure in all that they see and experience. To them every city visited presents a development that is regarded as marvelous, and their expressions of wonderment are interesting.

"Your people are enterprising," said Mr. Freudenberg; "such buildings, such lavish outlays in your cities—it is amazing. We came prepared for suprises, but we must confess the half can never be told. We have come over in search of trade pointers, and to say that we are securing more than we bargained for is putting it mild. However, we feel justified in acquiring all that is possible in our short sojourn. It's a matter of reciprocity, you know. You Americans throng our universities, which are supported by the government, and in return we visit your cities and try to ascertain the secrets of your marvelous growth and accomplishment. But this is not such a big world after all. My firm sells you fine leathers for the manufacture of shoes, and you sell us the shoes. And again we buy calf-skins in the United States, tan them in Germany, sell you the leather, and then you find in my country one of the best points of distribution for your product. Truly trade conditions are peculiar."

Asked as to the general impression in Germany as to the United States, Mr. Freudenberg said: "Ah, that question I am pleased to answer. Since your Mr. Roosevelt has become President we have become greatly interested. He is so much like our own Emperor. He is greatly admired in Germany, more so than any President since the martyred Lincoln. The ties between the two countries are becoming more closely knit, and it is only a question of time when our interests will become more and more identical."

Something of the importance of the interests represented by Mr. Bally can be realized from the gentleman's statement that his firm turns out 10,000 pairs of shoes daily and employs over 4,000 people.

The visit of Messrs. Bally and Freudenberg has already covered nine months, in which time nearly every important city has been visited. "We have two months more at our disposal," said Mr. Bally yesterday, "and should we consult inclination, we would not hesitate to linger in the vicinity of Los Angeles. This is certainly a beautiful section of your marvelous country, far exceeding all of our dreams of what a 'God's country,' as some call it, could be. Its future will astonish the world. We are delighted, and can not expect to find any section elsewhere that will bear comparison."

VENTURA COUNTY.

DIED ON A FAST DRIVE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, July 16.—John M. Busick, the mail carrier on the mountain route between Fillmore and Penrose, was stricken dead by apoplexy at his post of duty, last evening. Busick had delivered the mail at Penrose and was returning at top speed to connect with the train at Fillmore. A young man whom he had picked up on the road was riding with him on his buckboard. At the Santa Clara River one of the springs of the vehicle gave way, necessitating a stop for repairs. Busick feared he would not make the train, and was much wrought up. Resuming the journey, Busick remarked, "Now I must make good time," and toppled over against his companion, dead. The youth drove to Fillmore, with the corpse seated beside him. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of natural death from apoplexy. Deceased was 63 years of age and a native of Kentucky. A son, John Busick, now in the McKittrick oil fields, and a daughter, Mrs. George King of Bardsdale, survive him.

FRUIT CAMP BURNED.

The fruit-drying camp of A. Canet, in Cañada Larga, was all but destroyed by fire on Monday night. A fire caught in one of the smudge houses and the dry material about the pitting grounds was quickly a mass of flames. Houses, trays, smudge houses and everything inflammable fell under the flames, the value of the property destroyed reaching nearly $2000. The pickers and pitters turned out and saved much hay and other property. The fire burned all night, and was not brought under control until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Maude Jordine was declared not guilty of the murder of her two-year-old sister at Bloomington, Ill., last Thursday evening, the preliminary hearing ending with her dismissal.

BUSINESS.

Local bank clearings for the last week have averaged more than a million dollars a day, and for two weeks past have indicated unusually good business conditions in this section, considering the season of the year. For the week ended yesterday, the clearings aggregated $6,-837,764.32, as against $5,196,241.91 for the corresponding period of last year. For the same week in 1901 the figures were $3,086,306.58. For the day yesterday the clearings were $1,137,012.80; same day a year ago, $1,012,013.66; same day 1901, $454,072.69. Summer time trade was never better than it is now.

Many fluctuations in the New York stock market kept the market feverish and excited During the last hour violent liquidation sprung up in Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting and the former went down to 46 1-2. A brighter sentiment appeared in respect to money. Weakness in the Chicago grain market gave way to better tone later.

IN THE LAST DITCH.

The gang of persistent professional disturbers and wearisome walking nuisances who are trying their best—or their worst—to reduce business affairs in Los Angeles to the level of the unfortunate conditions prevailing in less favored American cities have issued the July number of their monthly "friendly list," containing the names of certain merchants whom the people of Los Angeles are invited to patronize, to the exclusion of others. A new feature is added this month, in the shape of an offer of three prizes of $10, $15 and $25 to the persons who spend the largest amount of money between July 15 and August 15 with merchants on the list.

The list is an absolute "give away" of the desperate condition into which these abettors of the boycott and the strike have arrived. It contains the names of just sixty-three persons, or firms, in eighteen different lines of business. Or, rather, it should be said only sixty, because one firm is printed twice, under different heads, and there is included in the list a cooperative league and a cooperative store that are backed by the boycotters, and under their special protection. In the entire list there are not more than half a dozen names of firms prominent in their respective lines. What a sorrowful showing is this. After all the protracted and tireless efforts of these agitators, extending over a number of years, backed by contributions from misguided followers here, and from others of the same kind in the East, they can only gather together the names of sixty individuals, or firms, in this busy city of 135,000 population, who are willing to go on record as being aiders and abettors of the infamous, unreliable and un-American system of the boycott. What a contrast is this to the long list of representative and enterprising business men whose names may be found, day after day, in the advertising columns of The Times. Surely, a cause which cannot gather together more "friends" than this is on its last legs—is moribund, and will soon be ripe for burial.

As for the misguided merchants who permit their names to be used in such a manner, they may possibly think that they will reap some business advantage over their rivals in this way, but they will find themselves badly mistaken. They will find such an action as this a dangerous sort of a boomerang to play with. They will not only bring down upon themselves the merited contempt and ill will of their competitors, whom they thus join with the boycotters in calling "unfair" merchants, but they will induce every fair-minded person who believes in the sacredness of individual liberty, in justice, and in common sense, to carefully note the names of these people, and to refrain as far as possible from having any dealings with them. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

A circular of another kind has just been issued by the International Printers' Protective Fraternity, an incorporated organization, formed for the purpose of advocating and employing arbitration as the business means of adjusting disputes between capital and labor, and of promoting friendly relations between employers and employés. The Fraternity, in this circular, briefly exposes the baselessness of the lying reports circulated by the boycotters in regard to "starvation wages" paid by The Times, stating the lowest wages received by any printer in The Times office, for the week ending June 9, to be $26.39, and the highest, $43.41. The circular closes with the statement that the business men of Los Angeles may be assured that in the course which they have adopted they will have the sincere and earnest support, not only of the International Printers' Protective Fraternity, but also of all right-thinking American citizens who know how to distinguish between liberty and license.

This is perfectly true. Those captains of industry, great or small, who, in these times that try men's souls, have the courage and common sense to stand up for the everlasting right, should and will have the earnest support of all right-thinking people. Were it otherwise, we should all be justified in joining the ranks of those who are pessimistic in regard to the future of this republic as a government "of, for and by the people."

The "friendly list" of The Times—a list of independent men, merchants and citizens who sustain it year in and year out, boycott or no boycott, would make the gang's list "look sick." We may yet publish such a list.

AMERICAN JEWS IN RUSSIA.

It is a fact not generally known that the Russian government refuses to admit to its territory American citizens of the Jewish faith, even though they go to Russia armed with passports from this country. This unjust and unreasonable discrimination has been practiced by the Russian government for many years, and it still continues, although our government has made vigorous protest against it on more than one occasion. Not only is this unjust discrimination violative of all considerations of international comity, but it is directly in violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of a treaty entered into between the United States and Russia in 1832. This treaty, among other provisions, contains the following:

"Article 1. There shall be between the territories of the high contracting parties a reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation. The inhabitants of their respective States shall mutually have liberty to enter the ports, places and rivers of the territories of each party, wherever foreign commerce is permitted. They shall be at liberty to sojourn and reside in all parts whatsoever of said territories, in order to attend to their affairs, and they shall enjoy, to that effect, the same security and protection as natives of the country wherein they reside, on condition of their submitting to the laws and ordinances there prevailing, and particularly to the regulations in force concerning commerce."

The intent of this clause of the treaty is perfectly clear. Yet it has been violated by Russia from the beginning, and our government has acquiesced in the violation, under protest. When an American citizen applies to our Department of State for a passport to travel abroad, and makes inquiries touching his right to enter Russian territory, a printed circular is sent him containing a statement to the effect that "the laws of Russia also exclude from Russian territory, except by special permission, all people of the Jewish faith," and that "while this government has been endeavoring for some years past to secure a relaxation of these enactments, it is only proper to warn those who are within the category to which they refer that it has not yet been able to secure from the Russian government a promise of uniform treatment for all American travelers in Russia, without regard to their religious faith or place of birth." It makes no difference whether the applicant be a native-born or a naturalized American; no matter what may be his social, political or financial standing; no matter whether he be artisan or scholar—he meets the same rude rebuff at the Russian border.

Our government has a right to object to such treatment of its citizens by a foreign power. It is clearly our duty to put an end to such discrimination if possible. Yet it is not altogether clear how we can proceed in this matter, with assurance of success, after so many failures. The only feasible method would seem to be by means of a new treaty, or an amendment to the existing treaty with Russia, providing that no American citizen visiting that country, or desiring to reside there, and holding an American passport, shall be refused admission on account of his religious belief. The government of Russia could not reasonably refuse to agree to such a treaty. We have a right to demand that every American citizen traveling in foreign lands under the protection of an American passport, whether he be Jew or Gentile, shall be accorded equal privileges and equal protection. This much is due us as a matter of international comity, and as a matter of abstract justice.

That peerless statesman, James G. Blaine, in July, 1881, while he was Secretary of State, served notice upon Russia that any action discriminatory against an American citizen "would call for an earnest remonstrance, whether a treaty exists or not. We can make no new treaty with Russia," he added, "nor accept any construction of our existing treaty which shall discriminate against any class of American citizens on account of their religious faith." This is a straightforward declaration of a just principle, and it is manifestly the duty of our government to stand by it. Whether the Russian government refuses or consents to consider the Kishineff protest and petition, it could not, without openly affronting the United States, refuse to consider such an amendment to the existing treaty as would do away with the shameful discriminations above referred to.

CALIFORNIA OLIVE OIL.

The editorial published recently in The Times on the subject of California olive oil has aroused a considerable amount of interest among those who are engaged in growing olives, or manufacturing oil. It may be remembered that the editorial commented upon some correspondence between a citizen of Los Angeles and the firm of caterers who run the restaurants on the Santa Fé system, the caterers justifying themselves for not serving California olive oil to their patrons on the ground that the imported oil is superior. Elsewhere in today's Times will be found a communication from the Ehmann Olive Company of Oroville, in which issue is taken with the firm of caterers regarding the relative merits of imported and native oil.

There is no question that much oil is made in California that is fully equal, if not superior, to any of the imported oil. On the other hand, it is also undoubtedly true that there is a large amount of poor stuff put on the market as California olive oil. This does not necessarily mean that it is composed of anything but the juice of the olive. It needs, however, something more than the mere squeezing of the berries to make a fine olive oil, just as it needs something more than the mere squeezing of the grapes to make a fine wine. Our olive oil lacks uniformity. There does not seem to be any recognized standard so that a dealer may order from year to year in large quantities with the assurance that he will know what he is getting. It would undoubtedly be a good thing for the industry if first-class mills could be established at convenient locations to which berries might be sent from the surrounding country to be graded, and worked up, and marketed under a standard brand.

Another point to which attention has been called by a local oil manufacturer is undoubtedly important. A great majority of the imported oils are adulterated. This is clearly shown by the reports of our Consuls in the oil-producing regions of Europe. These oils are mostly adulterated with cottonseed oil. If this is not done in Europe, it may be done in New York. Consequently, most Americans who use olive oil are accustomed to the flavor of the cottonseed, and know nothing of the flavor of pure olive oil. Therefore, when, for the first time, they come across a sample of pure California olive oil, it does not taste good to them.

Now that the industry has taken a fresh start, it would certainly be a good thing for the olive men of California to get together and form a strong organization, for the dual purpose of improving the quality of their output and of educating the public in its use.

The authorities of Ventura county are about to raid the nickel-in-the-slot machines which infest the bean country. Nothing is heard of a like movement in Los Angeles county, yet it isn't because there isn't plenty of material to work on. The mechanical robber was driven out of this city several years ago, after a vigorous campaign against it by the press, but the wheels still go round in suburban towns and at seaside and mountain resorts, and the nickels keep rolling in. Just why the authorities of Ventura county should be so much more virtuous than those of Los Angeles county we are not prepared to say. To tell the truth they oughtn't to be any more so. The slot machine is a wicked and thieving device, and it ought to be suppressed everywhere.

The Kaw River is again whooping her up. Probably there was never a more propitious time for that river to go on a tear than right now. The lowlands have been cleared of settlers by the previous freshet, and for quite a long distance back in the hills there are but few inhabitants left to tell the tale. And as the rain is great for the corn crop there would seem to be no good reason why the Kansans shouldn't let 'er rain.

Four more bills of indictment have been found against Sam Parks, the notorious walking delegate and grafter of New York. If they stick, Sam ought to secure a free ride to Sing Sing, and a long stay in that quiet little town. And New York would enjoy having him make the trip.

One of the gang of boodlers which has been making St. Louis notorious has been sentenced to a seven-year term (maximum under the law) in the penitentiary. It is to be regretted that the game is played in Missouri with so small a limit.

Electing a President of the United States isn't boy's play; and the Democracy will find it out should they be so everlastingly foolish as to nominate Willie Hearst to that high and honorable office.

The ship carpenters of Elizabeth, N. J., who have been out on strike for six weeks, have gone back to work at the same wages they were previously receiving. Their loss of time and money is a totally dead one.

The next great war in the United States will probably be brought off in Pasadena, where there is a gas fight imminent that promises to make the earth tremble. It looks as if a finish might be in sight.

Manchuria's door will remain open for Uncle Sam's entry and exit, and we have every confidence that he will have enough to pack through it to wear a new threshold out every year.

A movement to secure the national convention of Epworth Leaguers for Los Angeles in 1905 is on foot, but we could go after it with much more confidence if we only had a hall.

Mayor Snyder says it is the real-estate men who have made Los Angeles; and there be those among us who think it is Los Angeles which has made the real-estate men.

Protest is heard in Kentucky against the high price of funerals. Considering the number they have through feuds, and such like, it must be quite a drain on the State.

Just what Uncle Sam is going to do with a bunch of islands near Borneo isn't apparent—unless it be that they are populated with wild men and he wants to tame 'em.

The saloon license in Colton is $3500 per annum. If that were the rate in Los Angeles our 200 drink shops would bring us in a very tidy little sum.

If the old-timers in Los Angeles county should hear that El Monte is about to have a national bank they would turn over in their graves.

A great many easier tasks have been put upon men than the one now upon our President in the shape of that epistle to the Russians.

They are doing things in Wall street, but as it is merely to each other, the country will go right ahead prospering in the usual manner.

There is quite a political struggle going on in Kentucky, but up to the time of going to press the shooting hadn't commenced yet.

We hasten to renominate Carl Browne as the running mate with Willie Hearst on the Democratic ticket next year.

Although there is a slump in stocks in Wall street, the Kansas wheat crop is coming right along in slathers.

The sprinkling contractor didn't lay the dust very well when he had the job, but neither does the other fellow.

A certain baseball pennant appears to be considerably nearer Los Angeles than that comet of Mr. Borelly's.

Some of the sprinkled streets are getting a lick and a promise, but even that is much better than nothing.

This is real sea-serpent weather. Wonder why he doesn't show up in his usual haunts?

Cheer up, cherries will ripen again, and we will have a new postoffice some time.

If dust were dollars Los Angeles would be the richest city on the globe.

OLIVE OIL.

A Manufacturer Claims that the California Product is Equal or Superior to the Imported Article.

The following communication has been received from the Ehmann Company, growers and picklers of olives and manufacturers of olive oil:

In a recent issue of the Los Angeles Times we have noted a very pertinent editorial on California olive oil, which stated that as California had just harvested a large crop of olives and was on the eve of preparing for another equally large crop, it would be well for the grower, seller and manufacturer to heed the tendency of the East, in particular, to disparage the use of California olive oil, and persist in the using of imported oils without any regard to the question of quality or purity.

The article in question quoted an extract from the Los Angeles Fruit World in regard to the Fred Harvey dining system of the Santa Fé using Italian olive oil. Mr. Harvey's reason for this being that he has made comparative tests, and has found not only his own judgment to pronounce in favor of the Italian article, but also the verdict of various connoisseurs and restaurateurs in Chicago and New York, as confirming his opinion. We are particularly interested in this article, as we have had some experience with Mr. Harvey, and with the oil which he is using. We had some correspondence with Mr. Harvey last fall on the subject of California oil, and he sent us a sample of the oil which he was using, stating that under analysis it showed absolute purity, and that in his opinion it was the finest brand of imported oil that came to this country. We were curious to know as to how this compared with our own oil, and to get a fair test we sent his sample, together with one of the Ehmann olive oil to E. A. Stark, head chemist of the Standard Oil Company at Point Richmond, who has made a life-long study of oils and who has examined and tested every known brand of olive oil. This, together with his specialty of oils exclusively, has made him the highest authority on the Pacific Coast on all matters pertaining to olive oil, and we knew that we were going to the right source to get an unbiased opinion. We give herewith an extract from his reply:

"Your sample of olive oil I consider the finest that I have ever examined. It is not often that olive oil has a cold test, which is so low as this sample. It is perfectly neutral, and the color very clear. The sample of Italian olive oil is also of a very superior quality. I have discovered no adulterations, and it is also perfectly neutral, but the cold test is by no means equal to yours, nor the color. It began to cloud at 20 deg., Fahr., whereas your sample first showed cloudiness at 29 deg.

"In conclusion, I beg to state that I consider your olive oil of the very finest quality, and it is certainly the best that has ever come under my notice."

We know that Mr. Harvey is sincere in the position he takes, but his advisers have not been altogether unprejudiced, and we think the time will come when by reason of circumstances and a change of heart, which the superior quality of California oil will produce, the big catering systems of the country will come to the conclusion that California olive oil is not only equal, but superior to the finest imported product.

Now we want to say right here that our experience has always been that wherever a so-called connoisseur was accustomed to the flavor of imported olive oil, no California oil has ever had a favorable opinion, and we have known of instances where these same connoisseurs have given their opinion on a pure cotton-seed oil, under an imported label, as a better "olive oil" in point of flavor and quality than the finest brand of California products.

This same is true wherever the hotel, restaurant or club has a French or Italian chef, as these people simply will not work with anything but an imported olive oil.

The best criterions on the relative merits of the California and imported olive oil, are the physicians, both in the East and on the Coast, and these authorities, one and all, state that the California oil is more valuable as a medicine from the standpoint of higher nutritive qualities and purity, the California oil being more easily digested and assimilated than the imported, and further is less liable to adulteration. The writer has personally interviewed over 200 physicians all over the United States, and has yet to find one who has preferred to prescribe the imported olive oil, and this list includes most of the prominent physicians in the United States.

The question in this matter rests first of all upon the difference in the price between the two products, for the difference in the price of the olives, cost of labor, and other items of manufacture will always make the California olive oil higher priced than the imported, but we firmly believe that if California olive oil would be put upon the market at the same price as the foreign product, it would wipe out three-fourths of the prejudice now existing in the East against California oil.

There is, of course, a great deal to be said on the side of the educating of the taste of the people to the California oil, whose flavor is much less pronounced than the imported product. But as the California ripe olive has won its way against the imported article, and is today in great demand throughout the whole United States, just so will the California olive oil make its converts and claim its rightful share of the trade.

We have no fear for the future of the California olive oil, if the California producer will only keep from the temptation of adulterating his oil.

FAILED.

O how the summers roll away!
This day full thirty years ago
I left the lane, then deep in snow,
For clearer sky and brighter day.

I left the lane, the hedge-bound lane,
The popular-skirted lane at home;
I said, "In new lands I will roam—
In sunny climes, across the main."

The winter wind, through many a tree
Blew poplar leaves deep brown and red
(For nature then was cold and dead)
Around the village drearily.

The yellow leaves, the leaves deep brown,
Fell, with each gust, on roof and pane—
Fell on the snow, and strewed the lane
That wended through our rustic town.

Bare and black branches, here and there,
Shot up against a leaden sky;
The angry gale went wailing by,
Strewing the dead leaves everywhere.

"Farewell, old home and friends," I said;
"To distant shores I go
Which know not winter, know not snow,
Nor leaves thick falling, red and dead."

My life was all before me then,
With all its hopes, and trust, and youth;
With all its dreams of good and truth,
And faith in self and fellow-men.

Great Lord! it seems but yesterday!
And yet those thirty years have fled
Like withered leaves, deep brown and dead,
That morning stamped into the clay.

Like winter leaves, the years have gone;
Like winter leaves, deep brown and red,
All hopes and dreams of home are dead,
And scattered, broadcast, every one.

Keen Senses of Indians.

Stewart Edward White, who wrote "The Blazed Trail," in writing about the Woods Indians, tells the following and other stories, to show the keenness of their senses:

"In journeying down the Kapuskasing River, our Indians—who had come from the woods to guide us—always saw game long before we did. They would never point it out to us. The bow of the canoe would swing silently in its direction, there to rest motionless until we indicated that we had seen something.

"'Where is it, Peter?' I would whisper.

"But Peter always remained contemptuously silent.

"One evening we paddled directly into the eye of the setting sun across a shallow lake, filled with hardly sunken boulders. There was no current, and no breath of wind to stir the water into betraying riffles. But invariably these Indians twisted the canoe into a new course ten feet before we reached one of the obstructions, whose existence our dazzled vision could not attest until they were actually below us. They saw those rocks through the shimmer of the surface.

"Another time I discovered a small black animal lying flat on a point of shade. Its head was concealed behind a boulder, and it was so far away that I was inclined to congratulate myself on having differentiated it from the shadow.

"'What is it, Peter?' I asked.

"Peter hardly glanced at it.

"'Kinny-mooshi' (dog,) he replied.

"Now, we were a hundred miles south of any other settlement. Saving a horse, a dog would be about the last thing to occur to one in guessing at the identity of any strange animals. This looked like a little black blotch, without form. Yet Peter knew it. It was a dog, lost from some Indian hunting party, and mighty glad to see us.

"The sense of smell, too, is developed to an extent positively uncanny to us who have needed it so little. Your Woods Indian is always sniffing, always testing the impressions of other senses by his olfactories. Instances numerous and varied might be cited, but probably one will do as well as a dozen. It once became desirable to kill a caribou in country where the animals are not at all abundant. Tawabinisay volunteered to take Jim within shot of one. Jim described their hunt as the most wonderful bit of stalking he had ever seen. The Indian, followed the animal's tracks as easily as you or I could have followed them over snow. He did this rapidly and certainly. Every once in a while he would get down on all fours to snuff inquiringly at the crushed herbage. Always on rising to his feet he would give the result of his investigations.

"'Ah-teek (caribou) one hour.'

"And later, 'Ah-teek half hour.'

Or again, 'Ah-teek quarter hour.'

"And finally, 'Ah-teek over the next hill.'

"And it was —"—[The Outlook.

SECRETS OF THE SEA WILL BE REVEALED.

THE WONDERFUL INVENTIONS OF AN ITALIAN GENIUS.

Cavaliere Pino of Genoa has Attained Mastery of the Sea—He has Invented a Hydroscope and an Elevator that Will Work Wonders.

[London Express.] Cavaliere Pino, of Genoa, is known on account of the submarine boat of his name, an invention which brought him a knighthood from the King of Italy and the honor of his countrymen.

He is about to become world-famous on account of two of the most wonderful inventions ever perfected, inventions which have given him the power to reveal all the secrets of the sea.

Pino, in a word, is master of the sea. His inventions will revolutionize the lives and the ways of all who go down to the sea, to do business on the great waters. The ywill place him upon such a high pinnacle of fame as few inventors have achieved, and they will bring him, it is reasonable to suppose, such wealth as Solomon or a New York millionaire never dreampt of.

The inventions are, first, a machine called the hydroscope; and second, a machine called the elevator. The hydroscope is an instrument which enables human eyes to look down into the sea, to behold what it contains, and to examine the floor of the sea at any depth, while the elevator is designed to recover from the water any object seen and coveted, from a sunken ironclad to a pearl or coin. Each invention stands to-day absolutely perfected awaiting public trial.

These things are not dreams, but sober matters of fact. Everyone will soon know all about them, for Pino's agent, Dr. Iberti, is at present in London actively arranging for a public trial of the inventions, and he hopes to have all his plans completed before the end of next month.

There are to be two trials—one at Kiel, before the German Emperor, and the other at Southampton, it is hoped before the King, at any rate, before the British Admiralty and several of the leading shipbuilders and salvage companies.

CAN SEE AT ANY DEPTH.

At these trials it will be proved that the hydroscope enables one to see any object in the water at any depth, and to take clear photographs of the seabed, while the elevator will prove how it can bring sunken ships of any weight to the surface, and also such small objects as coins.

A private official trial of the hydroscope has already been made by the Italian Government on January 25 last, in Portofino Harbor, lying between Genoa and Spezia, when it was proved beyond doubt that it would perform all the miracles that its inventor claimed for it. The minister of the Italian Royal Navy, who has interested himself greatly in Pino's career, sent a torpedo-boat to assist in the experiment and naval representatives from Portofino and S. Margherita, while several naval engineers and captains and and two professors of science, and two lawyers were also present.

These gentlemen at the end of the trials signed a document which described how they had seen with their own eyes all the objects on the sea's bed that came within the hydroscope's range with perfect clearness, in their natural forms, colors, and positions, bearing strong testimony as to the priceless worth of the invention.

Pino now has at his mercy all the treasures of the sea—the pearls, the sponges, the coral reefs, and the sunken ships with their lost cargoes of gold and works of art. With his hydroscope he can see them, with his elevator he can rescue them.

HIDDEN TREASURES.

For conceive what treasures of all sorts the sea now hides and jealously guards. To take one example of the sea's natural wealth—a single coral reef, discovered in Japanese waters after two years' search, yielded in one year a profit of more than half a million pounds.

And for an example of the sea's wealth in the shape of sunken treasure one may mention the Black Prince, a British ship that went down in the days of the Crimean war with an enormous sum in gold on board, of which not a single gold piece has been recovered.

Pino has made it possible to locate coral banks and to garner the coral harvest with absolute certainty. He is making arrangements with the British Government to recover the Black Prince's cargo.

There is another big contract between Pino and the Greek Government for the recovery of certain statues and other works of art of inestimable value known to have sunk in Cerigotto Harbor during the Pompeian war. Though these treasures from ancient Athens have lain beneath the sea for some two thousand years, already many of them have been photographed as seen by the hydroscope's far-reaching eye at the bottom of the sea.

With the hydroscope to locate sunken ships and the elevator to raise them, the work of the salvage companies will be utterly revolutionised. And not before time. As it is, divers can only descend some ninety feet; while only a minute proportion of the ships that sink every year are ever brought to the surface again.

The possibilities of the hydroscope, apart from its uses with its companion the elevator, are endless. Attached to a ship, it enables the captain to see all rocks and sandbanks and other dangers in the water beneath him.

IN TIME OF WAR.

Commanders of men-of-war may see where explosive mines are lying, or observe the approach of submarines or torpedoes. Surveyors, with the hydroscope's help, may map the sea as easily as the land. And cable companies will bless the invention, for it solves at once all their greatest difficulties.

Then the hydroscope offers a new sensation to ocean voyages, for it may be so adjusted as to reflect the sea's bed and the things in the sea, the fish and the flowers, on a screen on deck, where a hundred people at the same time may watch, as at a biograph show, all the infinite beauties of the sea-waters as their ship passes over the surface.

One most important point must be mentioned. With hydroscopes attached to fishing-boats, sea-fishing no longer will be a matter of chance. The fishermen will be able to see exactly where the shoals are feeding or moving.

To the hydroscope night and day are alike. Cavaliere Pino has ascertained that even at great depths the instrument needs no help from artificial light in the daytime to clearly reveal everything in the water. But for use at night-time and in the deepest waters he has designed new electric lamps of enormous penetrative power to illuminate the sea-bed in its blackest abysses—and so nothing can escape him.

That the hydroscope is an instrument in the nature of a telescope, fitted at one end with a wonderful optical instrument, may be written down as marvelous machine of may I say more about it, that it is a species of designed to grip and lift size when lying at unlike any lifting signed.

But after the trials will be made public, will be convinced Pino, of Genoa, years, the sea has

HEAT OF NEW YORK HITS THE SHRINERS.

HORROR OF SUFFERING THERE IS HARD TO REALIZE.

Touching Incidents of Little Ones Dying by Inches, Their Poor Mothers Powerless to Save—Heart Tragedy of the Desert.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—This country June is simply hell. If Gen. Sherman had owned New York and hell, he would undoubtedly have preferred living in hell, but he never would have had the nerve to try New York.

You read from day to day in the papers of the deaths from heat, but you can have no idea of the grim, awful horror of it. Ride down through the tenement-house district and you begin to understand how the men in Kipling's "The End of the Passage," spoke of their friend who died as a "lucky devil."

Just one short block along the line of the New York Central, where it enters the city, has pictures that will burn into your memory.

More pitiful than all the rest was the tear-stained white face of a young woman at a window. She was holding a sickly, wailing baby into the opening in the hope that there might be a breath of air there. The baby was dying by inches; you could see that plain enough.

The mother saw it, too. She was fanning its almost naked little body. On her face was a piteous expression of yearning, wistful appeal for something more for her child.

Down every window you would see this, gale little children with no place to play—idly gazing out. They were only half-dressed; they didn't look like the little children in God's country. They seemed listless and dying, as though the very life had been wrung from them.

Even in the streets in the tenderloin there were more children—boys with only on but knee pants, usually one suspender only. Little girls leading babies in the gutter. They did not play. They sat listless, inert, or pulling limp dogs in the awful

She was just a girl—really. She looked like a sleep girl. Another girl sat with her holding her up and at the same time one not unmindful apparently that she was having a rare treat by way of a ride. The face of the stricken girl was ghastly.

One of the passengers on the car was a fireman—created for a policeman by Providence. He looked as though he could have been funny, but he wasn't. There was an expression of heartsick sorrow. His was a face to coax confidences. His little boy, he said, had died the night before from the effects of the heat.

All through the city you could see cart loads of ice moving and ready to drop. You could not go a block without seeing one that had given out and was surrounded with hose on the street. Drivers, with livid faces, toiled to get one traffic jam to another, suffering much to swear.

New York heat is not like the heat in California. It is blinding, as though your head must burst with it. If anything drops from your hand it seems as though you could not force yourself to stoop and pick it up. The slightest exertion in it leaves one utterly and abjectly exhausted.

The Shriners who came here suffered more by reason of the burning temperature.

The authorities were in possession of information as to his destination before he landed in Germany, and from the time he reached Europe until he was taken into custody, he was under police surveillance. It is almost certain that he will contest extradition. Application has been made to the State Department at Washington for the proper proceeding to secure his return.

Electrical Engineers Form a Club Which Begins its Existence with a Banquet at Levy's.

The Electrical Engineering Club of Southern California was organized last night at a meeting of the officials and employés of the various electrical companies and resident agents of electrical manufacturers held at Levy's. The formation was the occasion for a banquet which was attended by thirty persons. O. H. Ensign was elected president; James Atchison, first vice-president; Benjamin Pierson, second vice-president; R. H. Manahan, secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the organization is to make it possible for the electrical men to meet socially and to discuss informally the questions of interest to them and their profession. Various questions will be discussed and thus each member will be given the benefit of the experience and knowledge of the others. It is the ultimate purpose of the club to affiliate with the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Last night's question was "My first electrical job and how it did me." In the discussion some of the members told amusing things of the troubles they had when beginning the business.

IF STILL THEY LIVE.

If still they live, whom touch nor sight
Nor any subtlest sense can prove,
Though dwelling past our day and night,
At farthest star's remove—

Oh, not because these skies they change
For upper deeps of sky unknown,
Shall that which made them ours grow strange,
For spirit holds its own;

Whether it pace this earth around,
Or cross, with pointless, buoyant feet,
The unreverberant Profound
That hath no name nor mete!

FOOD IN SORROW.

How to Lighten the Burden.

"Who feeds his body starves his grief." There may be heart wounds difficult to heal but a well fed healthy body and mind softens the trouble greatly. A lady of Homer, Ill., says: "About a year ago my dear little four-year-old boy met with an accident which resulted in his death, and the anxiety and grief and worry that I experienced while watching his suffering and death resulted in my having nervous prostration. I could neither eat nor sleep and I was soon a total, miserable wreck, sick enough to die.

"Then I was put on Grape-Nuts food taking a half teaspoonful at a meal; the amount was gradually increased until I could eat about three teaspoonfuls at a time. I began to improve almost immediately, gaining strength steadily day by day until now I have entirely regained health and am well throughout.

"Of course my sorrow will never entirely leave me although they say time heals all wounds, but I am glad to be strong again mentally and physically for I can bear my burden better. I feel confident that if I had not used Grape-Nuts I would never have been well again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Hay Balers

ATTENTION!

Now what do you think of this?

Richardson & Rose of San Gabriel, bought a SOUTHWICK STEAM HAY PRESS from us and they averaged 45 tons per day for the season of 1902. One day they baled 61 tons and 120 pounds in 12 hours.

In 1902 Jlario Rios of The Palms, baled with his two horse Southwick Press forty tons per day for three consecutive days, commencing 5 o'clock a.m., resting one hour at noon and stopping at 7:30 p.m., and moving the press seven times in three days.

In 1901, Ernest R. Erbes of Prospect park, baled 12¼ hours with a Two Horse Southwick and turned out 45¼ tons.

Plenty of other testimonials. Call and see them and inspect the new presses just received which have extra long bale chambers.

Money Begets Money

Dimes carefully saved soon grow to dollars.

Dollars soon grow to hundreds and the hundreds to thousands. Especially is this true when the savings are securely placed where a good rate of interest can be obtained and speculation thus avoided.

The Union Bank of Savings pays four per cent. per annum. The money you deposit in this Bank while earning interest every hour in the twenty-four is still yours and at your command in time of need, which is almost sure to be the very time you cannot realize on speculative investments.

We should be glad to have you open an account and deposit your savings from time to time. Send or call for our Russell Sage booklets.

SHOT BY GIRL'S FATHER.

Tramp Who Committed an Assault on Young Girl Seriously Wounded—Precautions Against a Lynching.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

INDIANA (Pa.) July 16.—Margaret Barkley, aged 11 years, daughter of John M. Barkley, a farmer, was assaulted last night by Frank, Will, a tramp, while she was returning from the postoffice.

The child's father, accompanied by a number of others, found the tramp secreted in a house near by, and in attempting to escape he was probably fatally shot by Barkley. To prevent a lynching by indignant farmers, who came in from the surrounding country, the wounded man was brought to Indiana and placed in the County Jail.

The girl's condition is serious.

Some Tip Philosophy.

It was a new philosophy to a waiter in a hotel restaurant, and he evidently did not understand it. The patron had finished his meal, paid his check, and was disposing of the change, while the waiter lingered near with his eyes on the disappearing coins.

"Are you waiting for a tip?" asked the patron.

"Just as you please, sir," answered the waiter.

"Then I fear that my pleasure will not be yours," replied the patron. "The trouble is that your philosophy is all wrong, and with wrong philosophy we are sure to fall into all sorts of errors."

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, not understanding a word.

"Now," continued the patron, "you have the tip reversed from what it should be. You put it wrong end to. I pay the proprietor for food and service and honors are easy between us. Now, where do you come in? My wants make you necessary. I really create your employment.

"Without a patron to the house you would be without a job. You are under obligations to me for making your presence here necessary, so if you put tips on a philosophical basis you should pay me. I am the reason for the proprietor hiring you."

He walked out, and the waiter stood unmoved.—[Kansas City Star.

In view of the fact that chickens do not suffer from tuberculosis, Dr. Viguier de Maillame of France tried to cultivate the bacillus of consumption in the serum of fowls' blood and completely failed. He is now experimenting, with encouraging results, in the use of chicken serum as an antitoxin for consumption.

WHY?

The reason One Minute Cough Cure relieves a cough in one minute, is because it acts first on the mucous membrane right where the cough troubles—in the throat or deep-seated on the lungs, destroying the microbes or cough germs and clearing the phlegm.

One Minute Cough Cure not only destroys the disease germs, and clears out their poison, but it gives strength and elasticity to the delicate membranes which protect the throat and lungs. Opens the air passages and promotes unobstructed breathing. Causes the blood to receive its natural supply of oxygen, thus exhilarating the pulmonary organs with such strength and vigor that the lungs and bronchial tubes become bulwarks against the inception of disease. Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, Cold on the Lungs and all Pulmonary Complaints that are curable are quickly cured by the use of

For two days Miss Ellis, the "Pearl of Whittier," kept her name at the top of the column in the scholarship score, after Manuel E. Saenz of The Palms had relinquished the place, but Don Manuel will not stay down. The young Native Son again bobs up serenely at the top with more than 17,000 points to his credit, while the "Pearl" is at a standstill in second place, with about half a thousand less points than the young Señor Saenz.

The two Gertrudes, Miss Hibbard of Pomona, and Miss Pedelty of Santa Ana, have a habit of swapping places with each other. Today it is the young lady from Pomona who is ahead, being third in the race, while her Santa Ana namesake has dropped back to fifth place.

That there is something in a name, Porter Blackburn of Gardena can attest. Unknown to him, the Gardena lad has found a friend and assistant in his campaign, just because his name is Blackburn. Mrs. Louise Blackburn, who resides at the Hotel Van Nuys Broadway, was looking for a promising candidate for a scholarship to assist, and it occurred to her that it might be a good idea to help one who bears her own surname. Of course she inquired first as to his character, circumstances, etc., and being assured that he was worthy of support, she has set in to help him win first prize. So far as she knows there are no ties of blood between them, and she has never seen the lad, but he is her candidate now, and she says he must be a winner. That her assistance will be of much value there can scarcely be a doubt, for last year she supported Miss Beckingsale, who won first prize, and two years ago she helped Harry Elkes, who made the third best score. Young Blackburn continues to hold down fourth place.

Miss Jeanette Bower of Pasadena remains in sixth place, without counting all of the returns in her behalf yesterday.

Miss Beckingsale has crowded Miss Darch out of seventh place, but has only eleven points to the good. These two young ladies are running a very close race this year.

Little Blanches Marble, whose portrait is presented today, is again up in twelfth place. She is the youngest child in the contest, being only 11 years of age, but can give some of the big boys and girls pointers on how to win a scholarship. Miss Blanche is a native California girl, having been born in Humboldt county, but Los Angeles has been her home for the last half a dozen years. She plays the mandolin beautifully, and also recites well, music and elocution being her favorite studies. Blanche is a great favorite among the veterans of the Soldiers' Home, where she is a frequent visitor. She is the old soldiers' candidate for a scholarship, and is deriving most of her support from the home. Adam Kearns, a Mexican War veteran, is sort of an adopted grandfather of hers and is helping her all he can. Miss Blanche is a sunny-tempered, plump, sweet-faced girl, who makes friends with every one she meets, and it would be strange if she did not succeed in winning a scholarship, for she works hard, determined to win as well as in the race. Her sister, Miss [illegible] High School girl, is today, and many other both old and young are Blanche along.

Richard Sedwell of Fernando made great progress the last few days and is now in the Cecil Paull, Martha M. Ball, Aubrey St. Clair, Clare Templeton, Charlie cille Zander, G. Haven Hannah T. Thompson are Strange Beast on Broadway.

A crowd of more than 4 boys and men and women had gathered about a mysterious object of attraction at the corner of Venice and Broadway. Suddenly the crowd increased, even hastening the pedestrians for an instant to peer over the heads of those in front and to learn the cause of the unusual disturbance. But on the outskirts of the crowd it seemed to know what was going on within the circle.

"Look out, there!" came a voice from deep within.

"We-ee-ee!" cried a young woman spectator.

"Kill it! kill it!" yelled a man with rare presence of mind.

"Kill nah-thin'—he's mine! I found him!" protested the voice. A Postal Telegraph boy in the center of the crowd.

Then a policeman came and the sidewalk, and when he "fanned" the last of the boys in attention, there, panting with fright and exertion, lay the object of the excitement, the strangest of animals seen on Broadway in these days of fat, gray hogtoad.

The policeman picked up the animal and carefully passed him through the doors of St. Paul's Churchyard and gave him an encouraging word with his club to "move along."

"That," he said, "is Bill. He is pretty well behaved. But about a month he gets off on a bender and winds up on Broadway. I look for the Astor House, and I find some 'long regular and pinch him. He's been killed long ago."—[Times.

Bathed in Eggs.

Miss Bertha Darel is one of the ladies of the "When Johnny Marching Home" Company, and the sensation famous for pretty women, she says that the smoothness and transparency of her skin, which is a prime attributes of female beauty, is due entirely to a peculiar bath she has been indulging in for several years.

This new method of ablution is the famous milk baths of Anna Held and the olive oil baths of Mme. Bernhardt seem tame beside it. Miss Darel gives the formula for the first time:

"Take the whites of four fresh eggs and beat them well. Then rub them over the body with the hands. Let all you have absorbed then all over in the water until the eggs are rinsed off, or take a shower bath in tepid water.

"When you come out of the water dry yourself with a bath towel, but don't rub; when perfectly dry rub well with whisky, wrap in a blanket and lie down for ten minutes. It is the albumen in the eggs that does the work."

Miss Darel got this formula from a woman friend in San Francisco, who had lived for a number of years in Japan. She says that the eggs have been used by the Japanese women for years.—[American.

RIVAL BALL LEAGUES.

NO DEFINITE PEACE TERMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The magnates of the rival Pacific Coast League have so far come to no definite settlement of their differences, but it is possible that peace may come later through their meeting. President Harris of the San Francisco Pacific Coast League club was in conference with Secretary Garrett of the National Association of Minor Leagues today. This conference was continued informally tonight, but so far as announced, no definite terms of peace were decided upon. Harris, who has been at the Annex, left late tonight, and none of the magnates would give out any definite result of the conferences.

President Hart of the local National League Club, at whose suggestion Harris and Farrell came to Chicago, was unable to find the Westerners today, and tonight felt that the chances for immediate peace were small.

"Playing the role of peace-maker," said President Hart, "is no easy matter, and I am afraid that the time is not yet ripe for these people to get together. It may be that it will be necessary for the fight to be continued until one is so decisively beaten that it will admit it before any settlement can be made. On account of my interest in baseball, however, I will welcome the time when the sport is organized throughout the country."

HE WANTS THE BEST.

HUGO KELLY'S AMBITION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hugo Kelly, the famous Chicago middleweight, is corresponding with club managers in this city and Oakland, with a view of arranging a fight with Harry Foley.

In the Windy City, Kelly is rated a little below Tommy Ryan and Jack O'brien. He has beaten such men as Harry Peppers, Owen Zeigler, Rube Ferns, and Jack Daly, and now has his mind set on capturing the Pacific Coast championship by adding Foley's scalp to his belt. If he can not sign for a match with a local man, he will agree to take on Billy Woods of Los Angeles, Tom Reilly of Seattle, Al Neill of this city, or "Dixie Kid."

In a recent letter he wrote he was not particular who he was pitted against, but in his first engagement he wanted to prove his title to the class by taking on the best.

TICHENOR SELLS HORSES.

BIGGEST SALE IN WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Flo Bob, winner of the Maywood stakes, and the most likely two-year-old in the West, was sold for $13,000 at the auction sale of horses belonging to M. H. Tichenor & Co. in Washington Park paddock today. There were some lively bids for the colt. Capt. S. S. Brown offered $9000 after the first bid of $5000 was made. Then C. R. Ellison bid $10,000, and this was followed by a bid from S. C. Hildreth, on behalf of E. E. Smithers, of $12,000. Ed Tipton, of the firm of Fasig & Tipton, then made a bid of $13,000, which was the last bid made, and the colt was knocked down to him.

Afterward, it was announced that Flo Bob would race in the colors of Tichenor in the future, and it was generally accepted that Tichenor would remain in the racing game, but Newgrass, his partner, would retire.

Flo Carlin and Early brought the next highest prices, $6100 each, the former going to Capt. S. S. Brown, the Pittsburgh millionaire, and the latter to R. T. Richards of the Boston stable of New York. The entire sale of thirteen horses brought $50,000, the largest amount ever brought at an auction sale of race horses in the West.

BIG ANNUAL GOLF EVENT.

BEGINS ON MILWAUKEE LINKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

MILWAUKEE, July 16.—The big annual golf event of the West, the open tournament of the Western Golf Association, began at the links of the Milwaukee County Club today, and will continue until Friday. The weather was fine, and the course is in almost perfect condition. Sixty-six players, thirty-nine professionals and twenty-seven amateurs, are on the card to start. Among the prominent professionals entered are Willie Anderson, national open champion; Alex Smith of Nassau, Bernard Nichols and Willie Smith of Middletown. The prominent amateurs include L. T. Boyd of Milwaukee, Walter Egan, J. C. James, Glenview, and G. C. Comstock, Jr., of Middletown.

The contest is for the best medal score for four rounds of 18 holes each, a total of 72 holes, and the man making the least number of strokes will be awarded the open western championship. Thirty-six holes will be played today, and the same number tomorrow, 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon. The first money amounts to $175; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $75; fifth, $50, and sixth, $25. It has been arranged that should a non-professional player capture any of the prizes, he will receive plate instead of money.

FIRST ROUND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILWAUKEE, July 16.—The scores for the first round of eighteen holes, as far as completed, show Alex Smith as having the best record, 78; Ed Baxter was one behind, with 79. Joe Mitchell made the circuit in 86. B. G. Braid and L. Auenterionie each 81, and Willie Anderson, B. Nichols and Fred Herd each made 82.

TEN-PIN BOWLERS.

DENVER TO CHOOSE TEAM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, July 16.—The team of tenpin bowlers of the Denver Athletic Club, to roll against a like team of the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco, has not yet been chosen. The selection of the team is in the hands of David R. Brister of the club, who arranged the match when he was in San Francisco last spring. The selections will be definitely made tonight. Already three of the D.A.C. team have been named. These are D. R. Brister, Burt Davis and Dwight D. Johnston, all of whom were in the D. A.C. team that played in the city league last winter. The three are known as the most steady bowlers in the city. During his practice Brister has averaged over 200 in his last nine games; Davis has been averaging about 180, and Johnston has been doing a trifle better.

T. H. Marshal and Paul Brown are likely to be the other members of the team, though neither is considered a steady bowler. Marshall has been averaging about 165 in his practice. L. C. Kellers J. A. Dowson and J. W. Graham will be the substitutes from which the team will be filled in, if others do not appear.

OFFER FROM SANTA BARBARA.

WAITS ON ASTORIA DECISION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The Regatta Committee of the Pacific Amateur Athletic Association, after discussing the propositions submitted by the Astoria Regatta Committee and the Santa Barbara Festival Committee relative to crews from Santa Barbara participating in the aquatic events, have decided to pass the offer from Santa Barbara until a report has been received from Astoria, where a regatta will be held late in August.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that three or four barge crews and one or two single sculls will journey to Astoria to contest in the races that will be held on one of the finest courses in America.

THE TWO SHAMROCKS

IN FORTY-MILE CONTEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS (N. J.) July 16.—After a forty-mile leeward and windward race off Sandy Hook lightship today, the Shamrock III led her trial horse to the finish line by 6m. 30s., and won by only 15s. less. Summary:

Shamrock III, start, 11:20:18; finish, 4:53:04; elapsed time, 5:32:46.

Shamrock I, start, 11:20:33; finish, 4:59:34; elapsed time, 5:39:01.

ALL-NIGHT YACHT RACE.

HOOSIER OF MARBLEHEAD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VINEYARD HAVEN (Mass.) July 16.—The cruising schooner Hoosier of the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead, was the first of the club's fleet to arrive today, thus winning the all-night race from Marblehead. The Hoosier is owned by Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star. She was the last yacht to leave Marblehead.

Winners of Sculls.

LONDON, July 16.—F. S. Kelly of Oxford, winner of the diamond sculls at Henley, last week, today won the Wingfield sculls and amateur sculling championship of England over the Putney-to-Mortlake course, easily defeating A. H. Cloutee, the former champion.

Motor-paced Race.

MANCHESTER (N.H.) July 16.—In the 15-mile motor-paced race at the Coliseum here, last night, Harry Caldwell easily defeated Nat Butler. The time for the fifteen miles was 20m. 18 2-5s.

PACIFIC NATIONALS MAY CHANGE AGAIN.

RUMOR THAT HELENA CLUB WILL BE DROPPED NEXT.

Next Year's Pacific Coast League May Include Seattle and Tacoma—Dove Law Decision Due Next Week—Auto Meet This Evening.

Those baseball cranks who are not interested in the question as to whether or not the Pacific Coast League gets in or stays out of the big league company in the East are looking for the Pacific National League to "bust up" or change its schedule again before the season is over.

The expected cause of this is the rumored intention of the league to drop the Helena team before September 1. It is a poor organization of players, and the men behind it are losing money rapidly, because the fans won't support a club that is so near the tail end of the percentage column. Every club that plays in the town also loses a little money, which seems to go to the street car company that owns the franchise.

At the recent Tacoma meeting Ogden made a bid for the franchise held by Helena and in all probability it will be transferred there in a short time. From present appearances the Pacific Coast League of next season will be made up of teams from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Seattle and Tacoma, and the Pacific National League will doubtless confine itself to the best Northwest cities it holds now.

Jiggs Donahue, who is well known here, is now the captain of the Milwaukee team, since Bill Phyle went to the Memphis club. How Phyle can be worth $350 a month to any team is an astonishing thing.

Roy Hale, the former Los Angeles pitcher, is still with the Milwaukee club, and appears to be doing about as well as he ever did, and that is not very much.

Nick Altrock, the Canadian southpaw who was on Morley's team several years ago, has been signed by Comiskey's White Stocking club of Chicago.

Young Deisel is now with the Evansville, Ind., club. He played for a time with Comiskey's San Francisco team of the Pacific Nationals.

The Northwest papers state that "King" Kelly is now with Reilly's Los Angeles Nationals. He was here with Morley two years ago, but was not retained, as he was not fast enough.

RACE FOR TIMES CUP.

YACHTSMEN KEPT GUESSING.

With the approach of the regatta to be held on the 25th inst., and the lively interest felt in its outcome, there is a great deal of speculation among yachtsmen as to the number of outside boats to be entered, their comparative speed, and the basis upon which their respective skippers are depending to lift the handsome silver trophy offered by The Times.

While, of course, there are several members of the South Coast Yacht Club owning elegant racing craft, who are optimistic enough to believe they can give the far-famed Venus, winner of last season's regattas, and the first of this season, a close call for the honors (and this, too, without any undue reason), it is interesting to note how extremely anxious they are to be pointing out the many advantages of this little white-winged craft over the yachts that are said to be preparing to come here from elsewhere to enter the coming contest.

Yesterday, when it was learned that the Venus, only a 34-foot craft, had made the run to Santa Barbara, a distance from San Pedro of nearly ninety miles, in six hours less time than the big yacht Lurline, an 80-foot, schooner-rigged boat, built by John D. Spreckels at a cost of about $40,000, there was no end of discussion at Terminal Island, where the yachtsmen hold forth in large numbers. Some of them predicted that the smaller boat could walk away from anything on the Pacific Coast, if allowed the regular club handicaps; while others were of the opinion that the Challenger, considered to be the fastest boat in the fleet of the San Francisco Yacht Club, would be beaten badly in a race of almost any kind. That Commodore Herbert Pease, owner of the Venus, is highly elated over the wonderful exhibition of speed shown by his craft, is evident from the following postal, written to Capt. Joe Fellows, designer and builder of the Venus:

"SANTA BARBARA, Monday, July 13.—Venus arrived Sunday; very rough trip, except Sunday morning, which was light. Drifted up from Summerland; only two hours behind Lurline. Lurline reefed mainsail and jib Saturday night; Venus full sail and plugging all the time."

It will be noticed that Commodore Pease says he was but two hours behind the Lurline, which, considering the fact that his boat left San Pedro eight hours later than the latter, gives him a lead of six hours on the run.

It was stated by a member of the Regatta Committee of the South Coast club last evening that it is doubtful whether the Challenger will come down from San Francisco to participate in the race, as the voyage is a long and disagreeable one. However, there will be a number here from San Diego and other near-by places. Nearly all of the boats belonging to the South Coast club will enter, so that there will be between fifteen and twenty yachts in the regatta, all told.

MIDWINTER TENNIS IN SANTA BARBARA.

EASTERN EXPERTS TO BE BROUGHT TO PACIFIC COAST.

M. M. Potter Back of Sporting Deal That Will Make Tennis History—Malcolm Whitman, Beals Wright, Leo Ware and Lady Champions.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, July 16.—Arthur Ainsworth, secretary of the Tennis Committee of the local carnival, has started negotiations which will in all probability secure for Santa Barbara this winter a tennis tournament that will be as far in advance of the present affair as it has been ahead of all its predecessors. The scheme is nothing less than bringing out to the Coast this winter the eastern tennis cracks, all of them, if possible; that failing, as many as can be secured. Dana Burks of the Ocean Park Country Club is the proposer of the scheme, and he proposes to work with Ainsworth in bringing it through. Milo Potter of the Hotel Potter here has taken hold of the matter in the right spirit, and has offered to do everything in his power to get the easterners out here this winter, realizing that the interest now existing in lawn tennis is great enough to warrant his going to considerable expense in providing an attraction of great enough magnitude to bring lovers of the court sport to Santa Barbara. Potter has offered to see that the eastern visitors' trip costs them practically nothing but their time, and will build additional courts if those now adjoining the hotel prove inadequate.

Ainsworth is personally acquainted with most of the eastern cracks, and therefore feels it will not be necessary to make an extended trip in order to persuade them that Santa Barbara and Southern California are on the tennis map. He proposes to get Malcolm D. Whitman, Leo Ware, Beals Wright, George Sanidon of Yale, Robert Wrenn, Larned, Fisher and Miss Atkinson, the ex-lady champion. Miss Marion Jones will be here by winter, and with the Los Angeles talent that has shown itself willing to travel about the country for the good of the sport, there is no reason why the tournament proposed could not be made the grandest success in the California history of tennis. It will take plenty of money to swing it, but the backers of the venture are "there" with the financial goods, and have a lively desire to invest it.

Locally there exists a well defined idea that in case all the eastern sharps make the trip, as many of them probably will, they will find no such easy picking in Southern California as some of them seem to expect. Freeman and Bell are good enough for any company in the country, and any lady that tackles little May Sutton may expect to see her colors lowered at the finish. In fact, any one of the Sutton sisters is of championship caliber.

M. M. Potter, in company with all the Santa Barbara people is pleased beyond measure at the success of the tennis features of the present carnival, and the splendid turnout of Los Angeles players has been one of the things that suggested the feasibility of bringing out crack eastern talent to compete with the local experts. The result of such a meeting would be heralded all over the country; it would be a first-class advertisement, not only for Santa Barbara, but also for all Southern California, and the tennis fraternity hopes with one mind that it will be carried through.

Baseball.

The Apex team of this city played at Santa Barbara yesterday and beat the team of that city by a score of 3 to 0. The winner's battery was Leahy and De Voin and the loser's, Long and Beasley.

Auto Meeting.

At the meeting of the Automobile Club this evening it is more than likely that there will be considerable discussion on the question of good roads and streets, with particular reference to those within the limits of this city. Many auto owners and cyclists have complained for many months about the wretched condition of many of the city streets, and action may be taken with the view of having the street superintendent do something. Many streets in this city have large rocks sticking up in the roadway, and these things are death to autos and bicycles.

Hunters Still Absent.

As far as known, none of the deer hunters who left the city last week have returned from the mountains, but several parties are expected back tomorrow night.

Dove Law Held Up.

No decision can be expected this week on the question involving the legality of the Supervisors' dove law shortening the season from July 1 to August 1. It is in Judge Conrey's department of the Superior Court on a writ of habeas corpus, and the defendant is out on $50 bail. Judge Conrey stated several days ago that as the object of the writ was gained in the temporary release of the defendant, a decision of the validity of the ordinance would have to await its turn, and under these circumstances it will not be given until the middle of next week.

Boxing.

A tug that returned today from the wrecked steamer near St. Pierre, N. F., brought the captain of the steamer, Lloyd's agent and the only passenger on board. There is hope of saving part of the cargo.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Not That Hale.

Robert Hale, the well-known citizen and capitalist, should not be confounded with the skalawag of almost like name who has been given notoriety in connection with a war between lodge "brethren."

Willard on Municipalities.

The Municipal League will have a dinner at Levy's tonight at which C. D. Willard, the secretary, will speak of his recent studies of cities of the Middle West with respect to street-cleaning, sprinkling, garbage, municipal accounting, purchase of supplies, treatment of tramps and other subjects.

Room Burglar Caught.

Carl Spret, a young German, was arrested yesterday by detectives while trying to dispose of a fine valise filled with clothing and other articles. At the Police Station the valise and contents were identified as property stolen from the room of James M. Depew, No. 1112 East Seventh street several nights ago. Spret will be prosecuted.

Whose Wheel is This?

Thomas Lorraine, a known thief, who has been in trouble before, was arrested yesterday on suspicion while trying to dispose of a Monarch bicycle which the officers believe was stolen. It is a lady's wheel, but no report has been made of its loss. It is thought probable that Lorraine stole it in a near-by town.

Took Many Smokes.

A sneak thief who must have had a wagon purloined a case of 1100 cigars from in front of Harrelson's cigar store yesterday afternoon and got away without being seen. The cigars had been packed for shipment to T. M. Dugan, Redlands, and had been placed on the sidewalk to await an express wagon.

Iroquois After Clark.

At a meeting of the Iroquois Club last evening, a committee was appointed to capture Champ Clark of Missouri. The committee is composed of J. Kruise, A. E. Batterson, Mayor Snyder, Frank Garret, Dr. Day and E. P. Pove. The committee has been empowered to act for the club, and the only instruction given has been to induce Mr. Clark to speak before the club at an early date.

Whitley Leaves for Europe.

H. J. Whitley has started for a trip through the East and Europe. At Niagara Falls he will join Mrs. Whitley, who has been visiting the former Whitley home in Canada and regaining her health. Mr. Whitley and his family will spend considerable time in Europe, including England, Ireland and Scotland, where, as one of the direct heirs, he will make a legal fight for a large estate, Clem S. Glass, who will assume the active management of both the H. J. Whitley Company stores, accompanied Mr. Whitley to the East on business.

May Be Called "Temple."

The General Committee of the new Baptist Church held a meeting last night at which Rev. Dr. Woody, general Baptist missionary on the Coast was present. The books show 200 members to start with, and it was decided to organize tonight, at the old Congregational Church, First and Hill streets. Rev. Robert J. Burdette will preach his first sermon to his new flock on Sunday morning, July 26. No name has yet been hit upon for the new congregation, but there is popular sentiment in favor of "Temple Baptist Church."

TRAGEDY IS AVERTED THROUGH IGNORANCE.

MRS. HUGHLETT TRIES TO KILL CHILDREN AND SELF.

Laudanum Given and Taken in Too Large Quantities and All Recover. Fears of Crazed Widow's Relatives Were Well Founded.

Only the fact that Mrs. Mary Hughlett knew nothing of the quantity of laudanum necessary to produce death prevented her from carrying into execution her threat to murder her two children, Frank, aged 14, and Grace, 12, and then commit suicide. With a coolness which can be accounted for on no other theory than that of insanity, she induced her children to take poison, and then administered a dose to herself. She gave such large doses that nature rebelled, and instead of putting them to a sleep which would have known no awakening, they became ill.

Then the mother love asserted itself. She had deliberately planned the death of her children because she loved them, and it was without a tremor that she said to them as she gave the drug:

"Take this for mamma's sake. It is medicine. It won't hurt you."

But the moment she saw it made her little ones ill she knew that it would not have the effect she desired. She had already taken poison herself, and felt the drowsiness which comes from laudanum. Realizing that she only was in danger, and that her children would be without a mother, she hastily swallowed an emetic of soapsuds and threw up the poison. Before she could attempt the lives of her children and herself again, she and they were found and placed in the care of relatives.

The finding of Mrs. Hughlett and children was brought about by the publication in The Times yesterday of the story of her terrible threats. Before 8 o'clock in the morning a telephone message was received at the detectives' office from J. S. Thomas, proprietor of the Villa May lodging-house, No. 534½ East Fifth street, saying he believed he had in his house the mother and two children for whom the police were searching. He said he had seen in The Times the account of the woman's threat to kill herself and the children, and he asked that an officer be sent to his place. Patrolman H. C. Walker, who is stationed at the Arcade Depot, was directed there.

Mrs. Hughlett was found, and her brother-in-law, Julius Goepper of Santa Ana, at once went to the house. In tears she admitted what she had done, and thanked God that she had not been successful.

As was suspected, she feared that she could not properly provide for her children, and rather than see them want for anything she decided to end the struggle herself and at the same time take them to the other world with her.

She arrived in Los Angeles Monday morning, and spent most of the day looking for a room where she would not be noticed. Her mind was fully made up to commit the crimes, and she finally selected the rooms in which she was found yesterday. Tuesday evening she wrote the letter to her sister, which the latter received the following morning, and which caused the search. After the children had gone to bed she slipped out and mailed the letter at Fifth street and Central avenue.

When she returned and saw her sleeping children she did not have the heart to awaken them and administer the poison, but decided to wait until Wednesday night.

As to this part of her story there is doubt. The wife of the proprietor of the lodging-house declared she believes the mother gave her children the poison Tuesday night, because all three of them became suddenly ill that night.

On the day of her arrival here Mrs. Hughlett purchased a six-ounce bottle of laudanum, and in giving it to the children she told them to each take about one-third of it, and she would take what remained. They drank it out of the bottle.

Two teaspoonfuls of laudanum will kill an ordinary person, but when it is taken in extremely large doses it produces nausea and will not be retained on the stomach. The children must have taken at least two ounces.

The son was sent to Chino yesterday afternoon, where he said he could secure work. The mother and daughter were taken to Santa Ana, and will be cared for by relatives. The fear that Mrs. Hughlett possessed that she would not be able to properly care for her children is wholly groundless.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday by the County Clerk:

Charles C. Kennedy, aged 39, native of Canada, and Marie E. Nelson, aged 38, native of California; both residents of Los Angeles.

William Whitehead Hurlburt, aged 21, native of Wyoming, resident of Denver, Colo., and Elena Stanislaus Wolfskill, aged 21, native of California, resident of Redondo.

Pete Lopez, aged 24, resident of Compton, and Nellie Ruiz, aged 18, resident of Clearwater; both natives of California.

Herbert C. French, native of Wisconsin and Louise A. Wheelock, native of New York, both aged 58, and both residents of Los Angeles.
